Saanich electors today should settle the urban-rural issue once and for all

NO. 153—NINETY-SECOND YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1950 | TWENTY-FOUR PAGES

Separate Vote Shows Loggers Favoring Strike

Ballot at Big Port Alberni Unit Overwhelming for Tie-Up, June 15

International Woodworkers of America employees of Bloedel, Stewart & Welch, Ltd., at Port Alberni voted overwhelmingly yesterday in favor of taking strike action June 15 if their wage and union shop demands are not met by the company.

The vote was separate from the major vote of I.W.A. workers Thursday.

Meanwhile, in other coastal centres, strike talk flamed like a forest fire after more than 32,000 British Columbia loggers voted to walk out of the woods if I.W.A. demands are not met by next Thursday.

Results of the Government-sponsored vote at the Bloedel, Stewart & Welch, Ltd. camps were:

Bloedel sawmill at Port Alberni, 466 for strike action and 8 against. Great Central Lake sawmill, 220 yes and 40 no; Camp Eight, 127 yes and 16 no; Sarita River Camp, 79 yes and 44 no; Camps "A" and "B", Franklin River, 162 yes and 76 no; Camp Five, East Coast of Vancouver Island, 227 yes and 120 no.

WILL HOLD LINE

The 163 coastal operators, represented by Forest Industrial Relations, Ltd., warned Friday that they will hold the line at their offer—a conciliation board recommendation of a "maintenance of membership" clause for the I.W.A. and wage hike of 10 cents an hour.

The union is asking a wage boost of 20 cents an hour and a union shop.

At latest count, about 75 per cent of the Coast loggers favored the walk-out if demands are not met by the June 15 deadline.

I.W.A. RESPONSIBILITY

A statement Friday from Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., said that, "if I.W.A. leaders, in the face of this award, see fit to tie up the lumber industry and take thousands of workers out on a protracted strike, the responsibility will rest squarely on their shoulders."

Last British Columbia lumber industry strike was in 1942 and lasted 35 days. It ended when loggers were granted a 15-cent-an-hour increase.

Flames Roar Through Grain Elevator

Fire leveled the ten-story Bewerkock Mills and Power Company elevator at Plainville, Kas., yesterday and threatened the business section before burning out. Frank Eilett, manager, estimated the loss at $189,000, including 72,872 bushels of wheat destroyed, most of which was owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation. There were no injuries.

Price-Fixing Trials Loom in Alaska

Jury Says 23 Corporations Violated Anti-Trust Laws

WASHINGTON, June 9 (INS)—The Justice Department announced today that an Anchorage, Alaska, grand jury has returned ten indictments charging 23 corporations, 138 individuals and two trade associations with anti-trust law violations in Alaska.

The field indictments, returned on Monday, names some of the biggest corporations in the territory. In announcing the opening of the indictments, the Justice Department said that more will be sought within two or three months.

SEATTLE FIRM NAMED

The Alaska Steamship Co., with headquarters in Seattle, was named in an indictment and made the defendant in a civil anti-trust suit filed in Alaska by the Government.

The indictments charge violations of the anti-trust laws in the fields of transportation, fuel, the supply and distribution of food and "general services" including liquor, taxi services and dry-cleaning service.

The Justice Department said the indictments, opened this afternoon before Federal Judge Anthony J. Dimond, followed an investigation more than one year's duration.

RESTRAINING TRADE

Attorney-General McGrath, now in California, issued a formal statement with the announcement charging that the alleged restraints of trade are barriers to the development of Alaska as a defence area.

Most of the corporations named in the indictment have headquarters in Alaska.

Firms with headquarters in Seattle include the Alaska Steamship Co.; K. & L. Distributors, Inc.; Odom Co.; Laug & Co.; Merchants-Bloedel Distributors, Inc., and West Coast Distributors, Inc.

The Justice Department said that the indictments opened today attack "agreements among ostensibly competing Alaska businessmen to raise and fix prices, to eliminate competition by dividing markets and customers among themselves, to rigidify the channels of trade and control the available business by boycotting newcomers from entering into various lines of endeavor, and to coerce and boycott merchants who fail to adhere to these illegal schemes."

BULLETINS

Mob Halted

BOMBAY, India, June 10 (Saturday) (AP).—Three hundred armed police today broke up an attempt by 1,500 dockside workers to storm the Bombay dock area.

Senator's Wife Dies

WASHINGTON, June 10 (Saturday) (AP).—Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg, wife of the Michigan Senator, died early today after a long illness.

Crash Kills Three

NORFOLK, Va., June 9 (AP).—A United States navy torpedo bomber crashed at sea today, carrying three airmen to their deaths.

Aid Pledged

LONDON, June 9 (AP).—The United States has promised to give Britain military equipment to help beat the Communist-led rebels in Malaya, official sources said today.

Burly Gorilla Critically Ill In Chicago Zoo

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP).—Bushman, the burly gorilla who is one of Chicago's most widely-known residents, is critically ill.

The three-ringed 550-pound ape —most valuable zoo animal in the world—has suffered a heart attack or paralytic stroke, veterinarians believe.

Veterinarians are giving him digitalis—a heart stimulant. He's so famous, zoo officials are arranging to issue periodic medical bulletins on his condition.

The news spread gloom throughout Lincoln Park Zoo. Actually, many more persons come to see Bushman each year than ever Soldier Field, a huge outdoor stadium with a capacity of over 100,000, and which, like Bushman, is owned by the Chicago Park District.

The 32-year-old gorilla collapsed yesterday after attendants moved him into his outdoor cage for the first time this season.

Lively Saanich Secession Vote Expected in Today's Plebiscite

Saanich ratepayers will vote today on the important issue of secession which has plagued the municipality almost since incorporation in 1906.

A lively vote is expected in the plebiscite. Ratepayers will vote on two questions. They are:

"Are you in favor of Ward Five being organized as a separate municipality?"

"Are you in favor of Ward Six being organized as a separate municipality?"

1. Ward Five ratepayers must vote at one of the following polling stations: McMorran's Pavilion, Cordova Bay; Royal Oak School, West Saanich Road; Prospect Lake School, West Saanich Road.

POLLING STATIONS

2. Ward Six ratepayers must vote at one of these polling stations: Orange Hall, Saanichton; South Saanich Institute Hall (formerly Keating Temperance Hall), East Saanich Road; Brentwood Women's Institute (small) Hall, West Saanich Road.

3. All other ratepayers outside of Wards Five and Six must vote at one of the following polling stations: C. H. Walton's residence, 3098 Richmond Road; Cedar Hill School, Cedar Hill Crossroad; Tolmie School, Beaconsfield Road; Cloverdale School, Quadra Street; Cadboro Bay Scout Hall, Penzhyn Street; Gordon Head School, Tyndall Avenue; Marigold Scout Hall, Marigold Road; F. A. Virgin's residence, 3690 Douglas Street; Tillicum School, Albina Street, and St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall, Obed Avenue.

In the event of a person owning property in more than one voting area, his name has been placed on the voters' list for the area in which the property with the highest assessment is situated.

Everybody votes on both questions. Voters will be handed two ballots, one blue and one white.

Voters may vote at whichever polling station in their area is most convenient for them, but may not vote, or attempt to vote, more than once. There is a penalty of $100 for this infraction.

RESULTS

Radio Station CJVI is co-operating with The Colonist will present frequent, up-to-the-minute flashes of polling results, starting shortly after 8 p.m.

First full coverage of the vote will be presented in Sunday morning's edition of The Colonist.

Drew Opposes Claxton On War Preparedness

OTTAWA, June 9 (CP).—Defence Minister Claxton and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, clashed today over Canada's ability to make war in a moment's notice.

Mr. Claxton, participating in a two-day major defence debate, said the army's airborne brigade is in per cent up to strength for its job of guarding the Northland, and it is a relatively number more than 5,000 men, but the army is ready to go to war in a matter of hours, and "in a few days the two fighter squadrons up to fighting strength.

Behind them, he said, is a reserve army in "very good condition." Between them, Canada and the United States could handle attack against Northwest North America with forces planned and in being.

Mr. Drew contended that Canada has only 4,000 in the fighting arm of the army, and said Canadians should be alarmed over this "serious disproportion." He said not one of the reserve units could take the field in less than six months, and said the only people being misled by failure to give military details were the Canadians, not the Russians.

DREW ARGUES

Mr. Drew contended that External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated Canada is part of a balanced Atlantic Pact force that must be ready for instant action and must not depend on the sacrifice of one country or others could build up their strength. Yet Mr Claxton had said no immediate changes were planned in the forces and no major changes were likely in the future. Confusion was waged through-out the day without finishing.

Mr. Claxton said Canada United States forces available for defence of the Northwest are considered capable of dealing with the kind of attack that might come as part of total war.

INTERROGATION

The minister, under continuous interrogation through the second day of a defence debate, said this was the opinion of his advisers as the result of experiences gained in Exercise Sweetbriar in the Northwest last Winter.

But he declined to make a prediction on ability to cope with simultaneous east and west attacks, though he observed that the United States would have forces stationed at its several Newfoundland bases.

Police Retake Prison Trusty

OSSINING, N.Y., June 9 (AP).—Trusty Edward Connelly, who fled Sing Sing Prison last Sunday, was recaptured at gunpoint today while strolling along a New York City street.

He was quoted as saying he walked away because he was disturbed at not hearing for some time from his wife and children in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Rainy Lake Level Holds After $1,000,000 Flood

PORT FRANCES, Ont., June 9 (CP).—Volunteer workers relaxed tonight after piling 2,000 sandbags along the Point Park waterfront, where engineers say the Rainy Lake flood is well in hand.

They had battled the swollen lake, 4½ feet above flood level and now almost to the all-time high of 1916. But strong east winds, which threatened to rip out more of the shoreline, dropped today. A backlog of sandbags, rushed in from Winnipeg and the lakehead, eased the situation.

LAND SWALLOWED

The Point Park shoreline, around Sand Bay east and northeast of Port Frances, is protected only by a stone border. Eight feet of land fronting some cottage property has been swallowed by the lake.

East winds have a 13-mile sweep and a gale storm could send stout waves hurtling at the bank.

Short installations and ice-storage facilities are surrounded. George C. B. Smith, president of the Commercial Fishermen's Organization, said almost all the ice used to pack the summer catch has melted. Docks were washed away or under water, and fishing was at a standstill.

Mr. Smith estimated damage to the entire lake area, stretching over the sparsely-settled lake area 5 miles north and 50 miles east, at $1,000,000.

He said the industry has lost $150,000 in production alone so far.

Flooding was the condition side of the border, which runs down Rainy River between Fort Frances and Emo, Ontario. There, it has combined to a few cottages and the shore installations.

Mine Imperils Eastern Train

RED BANK, N.J., June 9 (AP).—An anti-personnel mine from the South Amboy blast area was discovered today in the coal pile of a Pennsylvania Railroad train carrying 250 passengers.

All persons on the train were evacuated immediately as a precautionary measure Army officials said "the heat or agitation" could have set off the explosive.

The mine, known as a "Bouncing Betty," was spotted by the locomotive fireman, Raymond C. Clapp. Trainman Harry Jolliffe was injured May 19 in the South Amboy station when an explosion shattered the city and killed 11 persons.

Police said the fireman of the New York to Detroit train discovered the mine a few feet from an automatic distance device as the train pulled out of the Red Bank station.

Engine Derailed, Truck Burns After Collision

—CP Photo

A loaded cement truck burns on Canadian Pacific Railway tracks in North-End Winnipeg after a collision which derailed the freight engine. The impact dragged the truck 200 feet, ripped up yards of track and dumped the locomotive on its side. No one was killed. The truck driver and train brakeman were injured, but the engineer and conductor jumped to safety.

Committee to Carry Out Investigation of Bridge

A detailed investigation into Point Ellice Bridge is to be made by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Suggestion that some action be taken on the bridge was made by Harold Elsworthy yesterday at a Chamber directors' meeting.

Noting the speed limit on the bridge had been reduced to ten miles an hour for vehicular traffic, Mr. Elsworthy thought something should be done to allow a more normal use of the bridge, and if this was not possible that it be torn down and replaced.

BRIDGE LOW

He noted the bridge was low, and apart from being unsafe for general use, was seriously hindering development of various industries in upper reaches of the inner Harbor, in that heavier traffic in and from the area above the bridge was definitely limited by it.

Geoffrey Edgelow remarked on the Point Ellice bridge disaster of many years ago, and warned that a similar thing should be done before another disaster takes place.

Forrest L. Shaw noted the city was responsible for the operation, maintenance and safety of the bridge.

Speedy Drivers Ask For Death

IN one out of three fatal accidents a speed violation is involved.

Twenty-five per cent of the drivers in these fatal accidents are reported as exceeding a speed limit or driving too fast for conditions.

In rural areas more than one-fourth of the drivers in fatal accidents are reported as driving at unsafe speeds.

Speed kills. Take it easy.

Ottawa Party May Visit City

Consideration is being given in Ottawa to having a large party of Federal members and Senators make a tour of British Columbia during the Summer recess this year, it was learned yesterday.

It is understood approximately 150 would be in the party leaving from the national capital. They will call at Victoria, according to present plans.

Moslem Minority Wiped Out

Soviet Extirpation of 700,000 People Described by Refugee Red Sergeant

BERLIN, June 9 (INS).—A refugee Soviet army sergeant in Berlin gave one of the first detailed stories tonight of what he termed Russia's "Extermination" of 700 000 minority Moslems on false charges of wartime Nazi collaboration.

The refugee, Mikhail Kralyzev, 24, fled into the British sector a fortnight ago. After being investigated by the British he was granted political asylum today.

Kralyzev, a Soviet occupation force member in Germany since 1945, comes from the Caucasian Province of Ossetia, where he said his present father's farm was collectivized—or put under government control—in 1938.

Kralyzev termed himself a refugee from "the soviet regime's crimes of violence against the minority peoples of Russia."

CITES EXAMPLE

He cited as an example what he termed the "extermination" of the Moslem Autonomous Republic of Chechen-Ingush, an area of 6,062 square miles in the Caucasus between the Black and Caspian seas.

The Moscow newspaper Pravda first announced on October 7, 1943, that five autonomous area, including Chechen-Ingush, had been incorporated into neighboring Soviet republics.

Then Moscow radio announced June 26, 1944, that the Crimean and Chechen-Ingush Autonomous Republics had been abolished and that "many residents" who brigad the Germans during the war had been resettled in other areas.

Kralyzev's story differs from the official Russian version.

The refugee said that his own village is only five miles from the Chechen-Ingush border and that he knows this is what actually happened.

In a single day, February 28, 1944, he said all the Chechen-Ingush inhabitants were kicked into assembling big so-called "Red Army Day Meetings," where they "did not suspect their fate."

Kralyzev then said they were surrounded by Soviet "extermination Battalions" armed with machine guns, and were loaded into trucks to vanish—presumably to Siberia.

The Russian soldier said that the official reason given for the deportation was "treason" by collaborating with the Germans.

Editor's Note: The abolished Chechen-Ingush Republic had been established in 1936. History records that the Moslem tribesmen fought fiercely against Russian aggression in the 18th and 19th centuries. Many migrated to Armenia when they refused, finally, to surrendered in 1859.

Files, Records Burn

Smoke in Regina Block Overcomes 14 Firemen

REGINA, June 9 (CP).—Fourteen firemen were overcome by smoke today as they tried to fight a fire in the basement of the Western Trust Building. Three were taken to hospital.

Burning files and records in a dirty, unventilated room produced world smoke which penetrated the room's masks.

"This was the worst experience I have had in 36 years fire-fighting," said Chief Tom Yarnton. "It took an hour to find the fire.

"Never have I seen so many firemen laid out."

Cause of the fire is unknown but it could have been caused by someone smoking in the basement or striking a match to look at the files, the chief said.

Spectators crowded the street as firemen were brought choking into the open air. The entire crews of the first two trucks were overcome. Replacements had to be called from two other halls, until every available man was on the job.

Fire Captain Michael Krisko and Firemen Howard Hammond and Raymond Anslow were taken away by ambulances and recovered in hospital.

Federal Government to Give $12,500,000 Initial Flood Aid

OTTAWA, June 9 (CP).—The Federal Government will contribute $12,500,000 as an "initial payment" to help Manitoba's recovery from its great flood disaster tentatively estimated to have cost $26,000,000.

Finance Minister Abbott, just back from a flying trip to the Red River flood areas, told the Commons today that an appropriation of $12,500,000 would be included in the supplementary estimates "as an initial payment to the Government of Manitoba" to help in flood rehabilitation.

He also announced that the Federal Government would bear 75 per cent of the cost of protective diking in Manitoba, as was done in British Columbia following the Fraser Valley floods of 1948.

STATEMENT SOON

The Minister referred briefly to the disastrous fires at Cabano and Rimouski, Que., and said a report had been received from the joint commission which investigated the fire damage. The report had not yet been studied but he hoped it would be possible to make a statement next week.

Mr. Abbott made his announcements as he tabled an interim report by the joint Federal-Provincial Commission which is investigating Manitoba flood damage. In it the commissioners, J. B. Carswell and D. Bruce Shaw, said Manitoba's flood disaster was "appalling in magnitude and unprecedented in Canadian history."

They set the total cost, tentatively, as $26,631,880. This was subject to "necessary further detailed investigations" and excluded intangibles, personal effects and crop losses.

Resigns Post To Prove His Innocence

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—William W. Remington resigned his $10,000-a-year job in the United States Commerce Department today with a blast at the firing of Federal employees who are forced to defend themselves against disloyalty charges.

The 32-year-old economist was indicted by a Federal grand jury in New York Thursday on the ground that he lied when he swore he was never a member of the Communist Party.

The Secretary of Commerce, Charles Sawyer, had demanded Remington's resignation under a quit - or - be - fired ultimatum two weeks ago, but he said that no reflection "in any way was intended on Remington's loyalty." Rather, Sawyer explained the resignation was asked for "administrative" reasons.

When Remington refused to quit, Sawyer announced that dismissal proceedings would be brought on the formal charge of "maladministration."

In a letter to Sawyer today, Remington said he was resigning to devote "full time to proving in the courts I am innocent of the charge that I have ever been a Communist."

Lost U.S. Plane Shot Self Down

SCULTHORPE, US Air Force Base, Lincolnshire, England, June 8 (INS) — Survivors of the B-29 Superfortress which plunged into the North Sea, Wednesday night, with a possible loss of seven lives, said tonight the plane shot itself down in a "million-to-one accident."

Three bodies were recovered. An aerial and sea search, which includes helicopters, is continuing for four missing men.

Four men survived, and one, Capt. Henry J. Walsh, of Fairfield, Calif., the plane's commander and pilot, said failure of a safety device regulating the arc of fire during gunnery practice caused the crash.

Walsh said the forward top turret gun fired into the starboard outer engine which took fire.

Women Pilots Ready to Fly In Long Race

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 9 (INS)—Thirty-four planes were entered today for the take-off Sunday of the first leg of the annual All-Women Trans-Continental "Powder Puff" Derby from San Diego to Greenville, B.C.

Youngest flyer among the 31 women entered is 15-year-old Pat Gillies who will be co-pilot for her mother, Mrs. Betty Gillies of San Diego.

Winner of the derby will be adjudged on a lapsed flying time basis. Night flying is banned. Stopover points which contestants may use are Tucson, Columbus, N.M., El Paso, Odessa, Wink, Bing Spring, Abilene, Dallas and Tyler, Tex., Shreveport, La.; Monroe, Jackson and Meridian, Miss.; Montgomery, Ala., and Atlanta.

Cabinet Honors Retiring Member

Growers May Ask Federal Aid

KELOWNA, B.C., June 8 (CP).—A hot sun beat down today on ruined orchards in the Okanagan Valley.

The valley, chief centre of British Columbia's fruit export industry, has suffered losses in excess of $5,000,000 through Winter damage. Soft fruit production will amount to less than 5 per cent of the 1949 harvest.

Federal aid may be sought to aid the industry. A conference of growers and packers will be held here June 15 and Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Provincial Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman have been asked to attend.

W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition member of the Legislature for South Okanagan, today compared fruit growers' losses with those suffered by Manitoba flood victims and asked Federal Government aid.

BLOW DISASTROUS

"The disastrous blow suffered by growers (through Winter damage) is equal in importance to the tremendous loss in the Manitoba flood and that sustained by the Fraser Valley farmers in the 1948 floods."

Mr. Bennett advocated Federal Government aid on the same basis as that given Fraser Valley farmers two years ago.

The frost-bitten orchards shriveled under the Summer sun. Tender leaves wilted. The trees were injured at ground level or near the crown of the tree during the sub-zero Winter.

Loss in peaches and apricots alone is estimated at $3,274,451, but the total for the valley will not be known until a complete survey is made.

All branches of the industry will be represented at the conference: growers, shippers, packers and the Fruit Growers' Union.

Peach, apricot and cherry orchards all show loss from Winter killing. Growers face almost complete loss of the cherry crop and a short apple and Bartlett pear harvest is in prospect.

Thousands of trees have been ruined and will never bear again. It will take seven to eight years to bring some of the orchards back to production. Unless Government aid is secured, some orchardists may not be able to meet the costly job of replanting.

There will be little work for canners this year and unemployment for hundreds of workers is in prospect.

The harvest from the light soft fruits orchards will go to the fresh fruit market, but there will be a curtailed supply for Prairie markets.

The apple orchards fared better than the soft fruits. Hardy varieties Wintered well and promise a good yield, less hardy groups suffered damage in the extreme weather.

U.S. Indicts Two Mystery Figures With Harry Gold on Spying Counts

NEW YORK, June 9 (INS).—Confessed atomic spy Harry Gold and two unidentified mystery men were indicted today on charges of wartime espionage and conspiracy to pass vital atomic secrets to Russia.

A Brooklyn Federal Grand Jury handed up a true bill against Gold, John Doe, Alias "John," and Richard Roe, alias "Sam," charging them with a total of 11 overt acts from about December, 1943, to about November, 1947. The maximum penalty is death. Lesser penalties include prison terms up to 30 years.

Gold, the 39-year-old Philadelphia research chemist, is accused of meeting with imprisoned British spy Dr. Klaus Fuchs seven times in New York, Santa Fe, N.M., Boston and Cambridge, Mass.

LINKED WITH FUCHS

The indictment alleges he received from Fuchs on four occasions, for delivery to Soviet agents, "writings, sketches, notes and information . . . relating to atomic energy and nuclear fission."

It further alleges that Gold passed the information along to "John" in three New York meetings and that he held one meeting with "Sam" in Manhattan.

It was learned the Grand Jury acted after listening to testimony by F.B.I. Agent Robert Lamphere, who recently returned to New York from London, where he and another agent thoroughly questioned Dr. Fuchs in prison.

The British scientist, who had access to America's most guarded atomic research centres, received a 14-year sentence after pleading guilty.

Gold, who has admitted willingness to plead guilty, was arrested on May 23 in Philadelphia by F.B.I. agents who tracked down clues to his identity supplied by Fuchs.

DURING WAR

The three defendants, according to the indictment, "during war, (did) conspire together with Emil Julius Klaus Fuchs . . . with intent and reason to believe that it would be used to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, to communicate, deliver and transmit documents, writings, and sketches and information relating to the national defence of the United States, to wit, information relating to atomic energy and nuclear fission."

There Need Be No Strike in the Forest Industries of British Columbia

Here is what each and every member of the Conciliation Board . . . including labor's nominee . . . recommended for 1950:

Because any tie-up in the forest industries of British Columbia will throw about 32,000 people out of work immediately and will injure the economy of everyone in the province, it is important that employers and the public should be aware of the settlement terms unanimously recommended by the Provincial Government's Conciliation Board. The union's representative on this board signed this report in full agreement with it . . . but the I.W.A. policy committee rejected it, recommending strike action if necessary to gain its original maximum demands of 17 cents an hour wage increase and compulsory union membership for all workers in the industry.

Here is what the Conciliation Board recommended and what the negotiators for 163 employing companies have advised the employers to accept, with the best interests of the public and of labor management relations in mind.

1. A wage increase of 9 cents an hour for all hourly workers excepting dishwashers, flunkeys and bullcooks who would receive a wage increase of 5½ cents an hour. (The latter categories, working at safe and sheltered occupations, are not faced with the same clothing costs as other workers in the industry. The I.W.A. policy committee maintains that these workers should receive the same pay increases as experienced key men holding skilled and difficult jobs.)

2. A maintenance of membership clause in the 1950 agreement. This would provide that employees now members of the Union and those who join during the life of the contract, must remain in the Union during the period of the contract. (The I.W.A. policy committee demands the type of agreement that would compel everyone to join the Union and to remain in the Union in order to hold a job. Employers have steadily resisted the principle of compulsory union membership as being against the basic Canadian rights of freedom of choice. However, because the Conciliation Board report was unanimous on this point, the negotiators for employers felt they could not now do other than recommend acceptance of the Board's proposed Maintenance of Membership clause, even though they realized it would be repugnant to many of their members, and no doubt, to many employees).

3. For the limited Summer period of April to October, a permissive 48-hour week in logging ONLY IN THOSE CAMPS WHERE THE UNION AGREED TO IT BEING WORKED, with the further requirement that wages at time-and-a-half should be paid for all work over 8 hours in any one day and 40 hours in any week. (Although operators clearly stated that there was no intention to extend the 48-hour work week to other sections of the industry than logging, or to logging camps where employees do not want it to apply, the I.W.A. has criticized and urged the rejection of this recommendation. It is maintained by operators that under certain circumstances and in certain camps, the longer work week with overtime pay will not only help to keep mills working full schedules but will give loggers a chance to regain wages lost by severe Winter conditions.)

4. A sixth shift differential of 7½ cents an hour, payable to about 400 employees in certain continuous operation sections of the industry, compensating them additionally for working six shifts. (The I.W.A. is endeavoring to ensure in the industry a compulsory complete stoppage of all work in all plants on Friday nights. The result would be reduced production, sharply higher costs on the commodities produced and inability of the plants to give full employment on reopening Monday morning).

Under the terms of the I.C.A. Act, the Provincial Government has taken a strike vote in the industry. Since the public welfare is at stake, it is felt that the public is entitled to this factual statement so that it may judge whether or not there is any reasonable excuse for a disruption of British Columbia's main source of income in 1950 and whether or not the lumber industry in these negotiations has failed in any way in its responsibility to employees and the public.

Victoria Model Plane Flyers Will Compete in Vancouver

Seven members of the Victoria Model Plane League will journey to Vancouver tomorrow to take part in a British Columbia championship model plane event being sponsored in the Mainland city by a Vancouver newspaper.

The Victoria group will take a total of 23 model planes, and will compete in many events.

Going from this city will be Alan Payne, Andrew Rittich, William Gelling and Brian Ramsay, all of the junior division; Ian Douglas of the senior division and Douglas Collis and Rodney McLeod, of the open competition division.

Model plane enthusiasts from all over British Columbia will be taking part in the British Columbia championship event. Top prize for winner in the junior competitions will be an all-expense trip to Dallas, Texas, to see the American National Model Plane Competition, to be held late in July.

Members of the local league have established a number of Canadian records recently, and those to take part in the Vancouver event tomorrow are optimistic.

LOCATE MONEY

Mrs. Verle Hagen, 2722 Avebury Street, had an anxious time yesterday when she was separated from her money for a short time.

She was inspecting an apartment on Gorge Road when she left her purse in a room to look over another part of the house. While away, another woman, who also had come to view the apartment, entered and made off with $17 of Mrs. Hagen's money, throwing the purse in a closet.

Acting on information received, Detectives Fearon Woodburn and Angus Munro in short order located the guilty woman and Mrs. Hagen's money. Mrs. Hagen preferred not to lay a charge.

Stresses Need Of Reporting Accident Data

Advisability of reporting to the police any accident — "regardless of how slight or how severe" — was emphasized by Sgt. Brooks Douglass, head of the city police traffic division, in a brief address to the Lions Club yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

It was important, he claimed, that police authorities receive an official account of all accidents, both for the benefit of police and parties involved.

SAVE WORRY, EXPENSE

"By doing this," he added, "you can save yourself a great deal of worry and possibly a big expense—if you are in the right."

He said the "fountain intersection" at the junction of the Island Highway, Government, Douglas and Hillside, had done much to improve traffic conditions at that location. Speeds on roadways leading to the "fountain" were soon to be limited to 20 miles an hour, he reported.

Official accident reports, said the sergeant, had to be filled out by drivers involved in any accident where damage to vehicles exceeded $50, or anyone was injured, or if any property was damaged. He said it was now permissible to make a left-hand turn onto Pandora Street while traveling south on Douglas Street.

A film entitled "Worth the Risk?" was shown by City Constable Ian Duncan.

Group Elects H. G. Black New President

H. G. Black, general manager of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, was elected president of the Telephone Association of Canada yesterday.

The association, comprising top executives of all Canadian telephone companies, wound up its week-long 21st annual meeting at the Empress Hotel with the election of officers for 1950-51.

C. B Diblock, vice-president and general manager of the B.C. Telephone Co., was named vice-president of the association. W. P. Montgomery, staff assistant of Bell Telephones of Canada, is secretary-treasurer.

Members of the executive council include A. Higgins, T. W Eadie, P. Millar, A. M. MacKay and S R Muirhead.

To Fight Newcastle Disease

Policy of Killing Flocks Endorsed by Minister

Provincial Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said yesterday that the Federal Government policy of fighting Newcastle disease in poultry through slaughter of infected birds will continue.

He said that only by this method could the disease be wiped out.

Mr. Bowman conferred with Dr. Thomas Childs, veterinary director-general of the Federal Health of Animals Division, yesterday morning on the poultry disease problem.

KEEPING CLOSE WATCH

He said that Federal authorities are keeping a close watch on all large flocks of birds and that additions are being made to the poultry inspection staffs of the Province.

An earlier proposal by poultry producers that a program of vaccination be employed on flocks has been ruled out on the grounds that it would necessitate yearly inoculation of the birds without entirely ruling out the danger of Newcastle disease.

An Up-Island check on the poultry disease situation disclosed last night that there was nothing serious to report.

An estimate of the amount of Federal Government compensation granted British Columbia farmers whose flocks have been hit by Newcastle disease now totals more than $300,000, Mr. Bowman said.

Some 182 flocks, totaling about 300,000 birds, have been killed in the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island. This is 7½ per cent of the 4,000,000 birds in the British Columbia poultry industry.

New Battery Parades At Airport

First parade of the newly-formed 156th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery, R.C.A. was held Thursday night in the recreation hall on the East camp at Patricia Bay Airport.

About 25 men from Sidney signified their intention of joining the unit, according to Capt. L. R J. Palmer, commanding officer.

Thursday's parade was more of a social affair than a military parade. Capt Palmer discussed with the men future plans for the battery and when they would draw their equipment.

The new members were shown the working mechanism of a 3.7-inch heavy anti-aircraft gun with which they will train.

The organization parade went off smoothly. New members were split into groups ready to start training.

Next parade will be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, June 15, at Patricia Bay Airport.

Condition Of Hurt Man Reported Fair

DUNCAN, June 9 — Nicholas Wilby, seriously injured in a truck smashup near here Thursday, is in "fair" condition according to King's Daughters' Hospital authorities.

He suffered a fractured leg, a fractured pelvis and internal injuries in a head-on truck accident north of the junction of the New Island Highway and Herd Road.

DRIVING GRAVEL TRUCK

B.C. Police Constable J. Meredith-Jones said Wilby was driving a loaded gravel truck north on the new highway when in collision with an empty truck driven by Fred Dodsworth, Duncan.

Dodsworth escaped with lacerated hand. Wilby was taken to hospital by B.C. Police. The Wilby truck was demolished and the other was damaged to the extent of $600.

WALTHAMSTOW, England (CP)—An analysis of housing needs here showed 2,313 families wanted one-bedroomed houses, 3,506 wanted two bedrooms, 1,344 three bedrooms, 170 four bedrooms, and 36 five bedrooms.

Added Attraction

Joan Morgan Will Swim Barrel-Roll Route Today

Pretty Miss Joan Morgan—star swimmer of the city—will do more than her share to publicize the Lions Club Gorge Barrel Roll today when she swims the 1.28 mile course of the run in reverse.

The aquatic star is scheduled to plunge into the Inner Harbor waters at 3 p.m. by the Point Ellice Bridge, and swim the "barrel roll" course to the Gorge Bridge. Members of the Lions Club, and others associated with the "roll," will be in attendance.

TO GUESS TIME

Victorians are now buying tickets which enable them to estimate what time will be required for a standard-size barrel—carrying ballast—to float from the Gorge Bridge to Point Ellice Bridge on the afternoon of July 4. Many tickets have already been sold.

Cash prizes totaling $6,000 will be awarded to those whose estimates are closest to the exact time taken by the barrel to complete the course. The barrel will carry sand ballast to the extent that it will float upright, with about eight inches showing above the waterline.

DEPENDS ON TIDE

Officials of the Lions Club claim the contest is one of "almost pure guesswork," although consideration should be given to tidal conditions prevailing at the time. The barrel may take anywhere from two to six or more hours. Victorians are asked to make a guess—any reasonable one may win them a worth-while cash award. Proceeds of the "roll" will go toward various charities of the active service club.

Miss Morgan, accompanied by her coach, Archie McKinnon, was a guest at the Lions Club luncheon meeting yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Higher Telephone Rates Come Into Effect Today

New, higher telephone rates come into effect today, B.C. Telephone Company officials announced in Vancouver.

The next bills received by subscribers will be based on the new rates.

There will be no "dollar discount" on the new bills. Total shown on the bill is the amount to be paid by the subscriber.

CONTAIN ADJUSTMENT

Most bills will contain an adjustment between old and new rates, because billing dates vary with the different exchanges. Details will be shown on statements enclosed with the bills.

The adjustments may make the total rental greater on the first bill than on later ones, officials said.

The new rates were approved by the Board of Transport Commissioners after the company asked for a total revenue increase of $2,261,741 a year.

Handicrafts Of Indians On Display

An exhibit of antique and modern Indian handicrafts is on display at 823 Broughton Street until June 17. The exhibit is sponsored by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, in co-operation with the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria.

The society works to "raise the quality of workmanship and design and to obtain for the worker a fair reward for his labor."

It aims to "assist the native people to take their rightful place as citizens in the community, and to help them revive their own arts and handicrafts."

Visiting Bishop Praises Establishment Of New Haven Borstal School in B.C.

Rt. Rev. Rocksborough Smith, assistant bishop of Exeter, in England, will speak at Sunday morning services in St. Barnabas' Anglican Church.

Bishop Smith arrived in Victoria, with his wife, yesterday on a leisurely cross-Canada trip. It was his first visit to the city since the consecration of Christ Church Cathedral in 1929.

"I'm very pleased to see how splendidly the city has got on," he said. "Victoria must be the most beautiful city in Canada, with the possible exception of Ottawa."

Bishop Smith came to British Columbia primarily to visit his son, Selwyn Rocksborough Smith, director of the New Haven Borstal school, first of its kind in Canada.

"I think the Borstal system is working out extremely well here," the bishop said. "We're very glad to see it on a sound foundation."

Bishop Smith recently visited Port Arthur, Fort William, Sudbury, North Bay and other cities in the Ontario diocese of Algoma, of which he was bishop from 1926 to 1939.

He was visiting England when the World War broke out, and stayed on to take up the Exeter post.

He and Mrs. Smith will leave for Vancouver Monday, and will return to England early in September.

Lumber Strike Would Be Against Public Welfare

BETWEEN now and June 15 every effort must be made to avert another strike in the British Columbia logging industry. The Province as a whole, with 45 per cent of its earning power dependent on the lumber industry, cannot afford so serious a disruption of its economy at the peak of the season. Nor can the workers directly involved, and the thousands of others who would be thrown out of work, afford a repetition of the wage losses suffered in 1946.

A grave aspect of a strike in this industry is that its effects are not confined to the employers and union members between whom the issue lies. Hundreds of allied industries, small and large, must close down when supplies of lumber stop. Thousands of men whose families depend on earnings in those industries are put out of work, and partial paralysis afflicts the entire Province. No other strike can do so much harm or cause such widespread unhappiness.

The fairness or otherwise of the union's attitude is a matter for the conscience of its negotiators. The employers have agreed to meet them half way, but the union has refused to recede in the slightest from its original demands. Its officials, attempting to thrust the blame for any strike "squarely on the shoulders of the operators," assert that the demands are reasonable, even though a tribunal on which the union has its own nominee is unanimously of the opinion that they are not.

Notwithstanding the fact that the settlement recommended by the conciliation board would give the union more than the operators believe is warranted, the latter have agreed to accept it, and it seems reasonable that the union should scale down its requests instead of sitting pat and calling on the employers to make the next move. Public welfare demands that further effort should be made to reach an agreement within the short breathing space remaining.

There Is Nothing Unethical About Saving Money

THE Builders' Exchange seems to be off on the wrong foot with regard to the James Bay firehall tenders. There can be nothing "unethical" about the city refusing to pay more for a job than it is prepared to spend, nor of its re-calling for tenders so that the work may be kept within an allotted budget. This is what Victoria ratepayers would expect councillors to do. It is when they do not that the word "unethical" might be applicable, only in another sense.

The practice of calling for tenders, opening them in public, throwing them all out and calling again for fresh bids is nothing new. Far from being "unethical," it is standard procedure among senior governing bodies. There is no obligation whatever on the party that asks for bids to negotiate the paring down of an extra to suit the pleasure of the tenderer. After a contract is awarded the proposition with regard to changes is different, but before that the City Council is free to do as it thinks best in the interest of the civic purse.

The Council errs in criticizing the right of the Exchange to criticize. The Exchange, as a group of taxpayers, has the same right to express its views that the Council had to throw out the first tenders. In the matter of the Arena, for instance, the Exchange raised some pertinent questions which warrant resurrection from the Council's "received and filed" pigeonhole; but with regard to the James Bay firehall the Council behaved as it should.

Combined Arts Centre Has Possibilities

FOR a number of years private efforts have been under way in Victoria to secure an Arts Centre to act as a rallying point in the community in connection with painting and other pursuits. The recent suggestion that such of the Arts as lend themselves to such treatment could be put together and support each other in the creation of such a Centre is well worth serious study and investigation. Victoria has long needed a gallery where professional and amateur works of art might be properly displayed. The idea that Music and Dramatics might well be coupled with such a step is a practical one from many standpoints, although it may have a few drawbacks from others. The suggestion is the most practical one that has been advanced for some time. Instead of rushing at it now and doing hasty things in the flush of enthusiasm which might remain to be regretted later, the various groups concerned should canvass the ground thoroughly, pool their own ideas, and come forward with a composite proposal after seasoned thought.

One Dollar Per Capita for a Start

THE Dominion's first gesture towards Manitoba, $12,500,000 as an initial payment assisting flood rehabilitation in the Red River Valley, is a substantial one and an earnest that the Cabinet sees the need. Premier Campbell's reaction to the announcement by Finance Minister Abbott may have been induced by first-hand contact with the distress at the scene, but it is hardly gracious. After all, this advance from the Federal treasury is the equivalent of one dollar per capita throughout the nation, and that within two weeks of the recession of the flood water. British Columbia did not receive Dominion help in the same ratio nor within the same time when two years ago the Fraser River went on the rampage. As the actual need becomes clearer in Manitoba no doubt the Dominion will bear its due share of the cost. For the present, however, $12,500,000 seems a very fair start.

LOSS OF PAY

Sir,—According to recent news items, the I W A and now carpenters appear unwilling to co-operate or negotiate. Is not this short-sightedness going to work the greatest hardship on labor itself?

Nearly everyone knows one or more families who would like to build a house, or make an alteration to the one they already have but, on account of the already prohibitive cost of labor, lumber and, in fact, everything that goes into building a home, people are forced to lay aside their plans in the hope that costs will come down. Who, then, is suffering the most from this delay? Is it not labor at large?

There appears to be nothing at present to justify round after round of strikes, for while the cost-of-living index may show a very slight increase, actually the cost of such essential foods as eggs, pork, butter—which can be substituted by margerine which, nutritionists inform us, is equally nourishing—are below what they were this time last year.

To prove that strikes do not pay, I quote from The New York Times of December 18, 1949.

"Over the past ten months the nation's 400,000 coal miners have lost as much as four months' work—at least $1,200 each in pay. The reason has been a series of partial and total work stoppages ordered by John L. Lewis . . ." This was back in December. The strike continued for many weeks more. What, then, must the total loss have been to the miners?

Also, is it not a well-known fact that money lost during strikes is never made up from increased wages? Therefore, labor loses out all around. While I, too, am a worker, I am of the opinion that in the long run we shall gain more now if we "stick to our guns" and thus enable industry and the economy of our country to become and remain stable, rather than disrupting the economy of our country by another round of strikes from which we shall be the sufferers; for if labor is willing to accept fair wages and no strikes—as others must—work and wages are waiting for all . . .

OLD AGE PENSIONERS

Sir,—There are a number of old age pensioners in greater Victoria, some of whom have not been here long and do not know that the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, a Dominion-wide organization, has a unit in Victoria known as Branch 5. This organization through its efforts in the past, in no small degree, has helped to get the pension raised from $20 to $40, with many other benefits granted.

The aim of the organization is, and always has been, to watch carefully the interests of all old age pensioners.

Branch 5 is the only branch in Victoria representing the organization . . .

Sparrows

Brown-coated sparrows strung along the wires,
They look for all the world like hooded friars.
The lawn a begging bowl for rice and bread,
Where these small pilgrims clamour to be fed.

They ask of Nature only this brown dress,
(Their souls I know are clothed in loveliness);
Like other poor and lowly of the earth
The rich and gaudy count them of small worth.

They are such friendly little folk, they chose
So many things of ours for their own use,
Small bits of string and yarn, a colored thread
To weave into a little swaying bed.

They build their mansions close to man's abode
Protecting eaves, trees nearest to the road;
How we would miss the little humble things
If no brown sparrow told us it was Spring.

Harbor History

By FRANK KELLEY

CANADA was well served by Donald Gordon during the recent war years. For that reason, Canadians generally will expect him to achieve much as president of Canadian National Railways. It is a big job, requiring in addition to top administrative ability a leaven of vision. We believe, from what we have read of the man and his record, that he possesses both.

We like the way Mr Gordon is going about the country seeking information on all matters pertaining to the experiment in public ownership Federal Government authorities have been busy with for some decades now. We believe, too, that he should be made acquainted, in his efforts to plan the future, with at least some of the story certain Canadians have lived west of the Rockies.

That is why, although we appreciate there are others who could present the overall picture relative to Southern Vancouver Island, and the part it could ultimately play as North Pacific trade develops, in more convincing colors for Mr. Gordon's benefit, we feel inclined to state briefly some local reasons for assuming years ago that Victoria had some advantages commercially because of its geographical location.

Because of its strategic position in relation to ancient canoe routes of Indian tribes and its nearly landlocked harbor, the port now known as Victoria was selected by the Hudson's Bay Company heads as the main depot for the fur business on the northwest coast of America when the question of boundaries between New Caledonia and the United States threatened the company's headquarters on the Columbia River.

Needless to state, in the planning of the Hudson's Bay Company offshore shipping had no place. And it came to pass that Victoria outgrew its trading post days. A gold rush left new citizens, some of whom elected to establish themselves on Southern Vancouver Island. Through their efforts it became a trading port for the Coast and the shipping point for salmon. At one time every export can of fish put up between Point Roberts and Nass River was brought to Victoria by coasting craft and loaded on ships for overseas.

In the meantime, because the harbor at Esquimalt was rated as one of the world's finest, the southern end of the Island was to be the terminal of Canada's transcontinental railway. That never came about. Sidetracked, Victorians set about other ways of building their town, still believing it had a future. They built and operated coasting vessels. Wharves were built in the open Strait of Juan de Fuca, and gradually, as North Pacific commerce expanded, deep-sea ships made Victoria a port of call.

At the same time Victoria kept agitating for better shipping facilities, and finally the Dominion Government spent six millions of taxpayers' money on a scheme which was never completed. Unfortunately, the Great War interfered, when the plan was abandoned. Nothing has been done since. Shipping men welcomed the original wharves and the Government project, which should have made Victoria a more important shipping centre than it is. Mainly, it is true, as a transfer point. Ships saved a lot of steaming time by landing cargoes at Victoria destined for Canadian and United States railheads.

I recall, too, that when the disposition of Ogden Point piers was being discussed and private interests wanted to make a deal for operating them, Sir Henry Thornton decided to add their operation to the Canadian National system. Had private interests been confirmed in their application Ogden Point piers might well have been steady revenue producers. There would have been trackage and ferry facilities for box cars of both Canadian railroads long ago, also piers at a height which would be safe for finely-moulded passenger ships to berth alongside.

Confused Generalities

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NEW YORK.—High honors in the long roll of historic futilities will go to the United National Commission on Human Rights. Mrs. Roosevelt, chairman of that group, may be the very embodiment of good intentions, but her great limitations in knowledge of law, systematic political philosophy and political history make for deeper and deeper plunges into confusion.

After eternal discussions there appeared a strange document called "Universal Declaration of Human Rights," which was "adopted and proclaimed" by the United Nations General Assembly in December, 1948. In the jargon of the United Nations it was said that this declaration was "accepted" by the United States and a long string of member nations. This, of course, did not mean that the United States officially accepted it, for that would require adoption by constitutional amendment. Even if it were to be granted that by a treaty it could have legal force—an assumption that could hardly be made—the Senate has not acted upon it.

All the declaration really means is that a group of well-meaning people selected by some authority in many nations put together some words and got a vote in the General Assembly. It is a set of pious ideas couched in vague language by a group of zealous reformers.

The document itself deserves close scrutiny by those who are anxious about protecting their own form of government. A cautious and intelligent statesman, Walter George, recently said in the Senate that once this declaration was ratified, we should have "changed the character of the Government of the United States."

At the very beginning of the document, the essential constitutional rights—to life, liberty and property—are amended to read, "life, liberty and security of person." Far down among the multitudinous "rights" are some words relating to property: "Everyone has the right to own property, alone as well as in association with others." And "no one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his property."

What kind of property is thus guaranteed is not clear. And it is equally unclear what "arbitrarily" shall be construed to mean. The word "arbitrary" is a literary and moralistic characterization. It means that some act that one does not like one calls "arbitrary." It has no usefulness in jurisprudence.

The cream of the jest, however, is in another article in which the whole socialistic package is inserted: "Everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of himself and of his family, including food, clothing, housing and medical care and necessary social services, and the right to security in the event of unemployment, sickness, disability, widowhood, old age or other lack of livelihood in circumstances beyond his control." (Apparently, being a widow is beyond control.)

Perhaps in a later version — for these "rights" are now being put into the form of a "covenant"—new rights will be included. Perhaps there will be a "right" for everyone to have a television set, a deep freeze and a copy of "This I Remember."

Do We Need All-Day Radio?

(From The Ottawa Journal)

MR A D. Dunton, chairman of the C B C. Board of Governors, told the Commons radio committee that if the C B C. did not get more revenue it might be compelled to cut, among other things, the quantity of programs.

Would that be disaster?

Speaking for ourselves, we don't think it would be. On the contrary, we have a notion that most people would be quite content to get up in the morning, bathe and shave and eat breakfast without the assistance of "Rawhide" or the "Breakfast Club," or perhaps something worse. And we have a notion, too, that if instead of all-day radio there would be just evening programs or programs at selected times during the day, with some hours in between when silence would "come like a poultice to heal the wounds of sound," it would be a blessing for everybody, and good for radio, too.

Nor have we ever been able to see why anybody who buys a radio set and pays a radio licence fee should have a right to expect that radio programs be on tap for him at any hour or minute of the day, morning, noon or night. Indeed, our feeling about such a person, assuming that he exists, is that what he really needs is not a radio program, but a good psychiatrist.

Governments, in our strange new world, have undertaken to do many things for people, some of them odd. For the life of us we can't see that among the oddities there should be the obligation of supplying radio programs unceasingly from the rising of the sun until the going down thereof, plus far into the night.

A doctor we know tells about a colleague of his whose hobby is ventriloquism and whose sense of humor leans toward the practical joke. He needed a lad to help in his laboratory. The boy would need steady nerves and Doc was just the man to dream up a ghostly method of testing them. To the first promising youngster he handed a bowl of steaming oatmeal, explaining that he had a skeleton in the corner closet and go ahead and feed him. Quavering visibly, the boy opened the door. "That's too hot," intoned the skeleton in sepulchral tones. That was the lad's exit line. The next boy to get the ventriloquist treatment fainted.

Then came a lanky, freckle-faced red-head. He accepted the bowl of cereal with lifted eyebrow and bored expression, opened the closet door. "Gh-h-h-h," moaned the skeleton, "that's too hot!"

"Sure it is!" scoffed the kid. "Blow on it, stupid!"

AT an unnamed army establishment in the Province a popular padre gave the troops a talk on spiritual guidance, and expressed the opinion there would be another war by 1954. Next day four men were absent without official leave. Several days later two of them returned to camp. "I was going to have a good time before the big day comes," one said to a sergeant-major. "I thought the padre said there would be another war by the end of 1950, and believed he got his information from a higher source," the other remarked . . . From Mrs. Lily Hick: "Where is this glorious freedom o'er which we rave and shout? I wish you could explain to me just what it's all about. My house may tumble round my ears; repair I do not dare. Without a permit in my paw they've got me by the hair. No more upon my garden cool water may I pour. Oh, give me back the dear old days, the good old days of yore. The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

THIS is a bad week for cat owners and cats. This is the week that their neighbors suggest, more or less amiably, that they either tie a bell around the cat's neck, or else keep the blame thing in the house.

For this week, the young birds are tumbling from the nests all over the city gardens and parks. And on lawn and fence post, they are feebly and yet violently advertising themselves to all cat creation.

Letters to the editors are appearing in the papers. Radio commentators on the homelier aspects of life are uttering appeals to cat owners. Newspaper columnists, even, are writing little pieces. It is tough to be a cat this week.

One of my neighbors is the type of city man who, though he wants a drug store two blocks distant, likes to preserve a little oasis of the country at the back of his house. And he has hedges and apple trees to wall out the city from his view. His garden is rustic. And he loves to entice wild birds to nest, with boxes and shelves cunningly hidden amidst his greenery.

He is definitely anti-Feline. He is guilty of the grossest discrimination against cats, even to keeping a pile of things on the garden table to throw at them if they come near his sanctuary. He is an ardent cat-bell man, and even buys cat bells to give to his neighbors who own felines.

But he does love a cocker spaniel which he has trained to do everything except leave baby birds alone. I am sorry to report that one of his cat-owning neighbors, having detected the cocker in the act of scoffing off a baby oriole the other day, sent my friend a cow bell on a nice big blue ribbon.

The fact is, wild birds should be discouraged from nesting in cities. Besides cats and dogs, they have traffic to contend with. And more infant birds are probably killed by garden insecticides than by all the cats in Christendom.

According to the Gregorian Calendar, leap years are those whose numbers are divisible by four, with the exception of those divisible by 100 but not by 400. Thus, while 1800 and 1900 were not leap years, 2000 will be.

Truman Declares U.S. Enlisted for Duration

—Interpreting the News—

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

America's military, diplomatic and administrative leaders have given the world a clear picture this week of her position in the cold war.

President Truman indicates that there will be no real end of the Marshall Plan in 1952. There may be shifts in emphasis to meet changed conditions. But the Administration position is that foreign aid will be continued as needed.

Secretary Acheson, six ambassadors and General George Marshall have been telling Congress of the necessity for pushing military preparedness and European rearmament.

Economic resistance to subversion from within, military resistance to aggression from without. That is the program.

REASSURES EUROPE

It will come as reassurance to the Marshall Plan countries, which have been in doubt as to what might happen when its time was up. Now they are told not to worry. That the United States is enlisted in the cold war for the duration, as Mr Truman put it.

The picture of a United States unified in its objectives is enhanced by Senator Taft, who, because of the poor health of Senator Vandenberg, assumes more and more responsibility for Republican policy in the foreign as well as the domestic field. Taft still doesn't think much of European rearmament, fearing the absence of a will to fight. But whereas last year he was fearful of a.. atomic war commitment in the Atlantic Pact, he now says that the United States must be prepared to go to war if Russia tries to sweep over Western Europe.

TAFT WILLING

Taft preceded by a day the President's statement in Columbia, Mo., regarding the continuation of foreign aid after the Marshall Plan runs out. The Senator says he will be willing to consider continued aid, but seems to lean more to the point four idea than to the present system. He suggests the possibility of getting aid expenditures down to around one or two billion dollars a year, to be provided for the most part by private capital.

President Truman expresses confidence in the program of gaining time, by military preparedness, for economic measures to have a chance to work.

The military men, however, admit to taking a calculated risk. There is a possibility that Russia, seeing the retaining wall growing higher and stronger around her, might try to break out before it is completed. But this is regarded as no more than a possibility.

"Enlisted for the duration" is a big phrase in this cold-type war. None can foretell when it will be settled. But the President's picture of Russian aggressiveness makes it pretty clear that it will be settled by economic or military power or both, not by negotiation.

Move to Halt Rate Increase Given Setback

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP).—The Government has declined to stop the latest freight-rate increase from going into affect June 16, Prime Minister St. Laurent disclosed in the Commons today.

He made public letters advising provincial premiers that Cabinet has refused their request for a stay and admonishing the premiers—who complained of rate "inequalities"—to get their complaints in to the Board of Transport Commissioners' general rate inquiry that started two years ago.

Seven Provincial Governments had petitioned to have the 3.4 per cent increase awarded May 24 put off until Cabinet had heard their formal appeal from the 1948-50 series of rate increases aggregating 20 per cent. The 3.4 per cent is included in the appeal.

TAKE OPPOSITE VIEWS

Mr. St. Laurent made it clear in his letters to the premiers that Cabinet takes the opposite view—that the transport board's award should not be interfered with until argument on the appeal has been heard.

He did not indicate when this would be. It was believed, however, that appeal would not be heard until August.

The Prime Minister told the premiers the board has found that the railways require additional revenue and Cabinet feels that it should not assume this finding was wrong, at least until the appeal was heard.

Riots Blamed On Unionist, Two Officials

LONDON, June 9 (Reuters). A Government inquiry commission which probed riots in the British colony of Nigeria, tonight severely criticized a 44-year-old Scottish police chief who gave his men orders to fire on African coal-mine strikers.

Their bullets killed 21 Africans and wounded 51 others, giving political agitators the cue to set off a wild wave of riots and looting in other parts of the colony.

Also rapped in the commission's report was Britain's chief commissioner of Nigeria's Eastern provinces, Cmdr. J. G. Pyke-Nott.

The report charged that he and his advisers erred in diagnosing the original miners' dispute at Enugu as a political agitation rather than what it actually was—an industrial dispute.

But the man most heavily lashed by the 60-page report is an African trade union leader, G. Ojiti, whom is described as the "worthless secretary of the Enugu miners."

Child Found Unharmed

PEACE RIVER, Alta., June 8 (CP). Lost in the bush north of here for more than 18 hours, three-year-old Heather Robertson today was found unharmed by members of a search party that had sought her since last night.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson, was believed to have wandered away from her home, four miles north of here, about 5.30 p.m. yesterday.

Fear Fire on U.K. Train Started by Gem Thieves

BEATTOCK, Scotland, June 8 (CP).—Police today were investigating a theory that fire which swept three coaches of a Birmingham-Glasgow express train last night, killing five passengers and injuring several others, may have broken out after train robbers had been at work.

The theory was based on a report that jewelry worth £10,000 ($31,000) was missing from the locked baggage car after the accident.

The jewelry, belonging to a Birmingham firm, was contained in several packets consigned to Glasgow. A director of the firm traveled to Lanarkshire to help trace the jewels, and salvagemen were brought in to dig in the debris of the burned-out coaches.

The fire victims included a Glasgow mother and her two children, aged four and two. All the dead were found in a compartment in the first coach behind the engine.

Fire broke out in the coaches as the express roared northwards on the border of Dumfries and Lanarkshire.

When the flaming train—the Midland Scot—finally was flagged to a halt near this village, 60 miles southeast of Glasgow, the first three cars continued to burn down to the steel framework. Screaming passengers milled through the smoke-filled corridors and jumped to safety as the train slowed down.

Conductor Albert Bastien said the fire appeared to have started in the compartment where the five died.

Teen-Age Gang Problem Major Topic for Parley

VANCOUVER, June 9 (CP).—Have teen-age gangs, under proper leadership, a rightful place in the community? Or are they a menace in any form?

To find out, some of the keenest minds in Canadian and United States social work will converge on Vancouver, where criminal sorties of zoot-suited youths and their slack-clad girl friends include drug addiction and brutal gang wars.

"Gangs—a menace or an opportunity?" That will be one of the major questions to be explored at the biennial Canadian Conference on Social Work. The conference runs from June 11 to 17. Hundreds of delegates are expected.

OPINION DIVIDED

"The gang problem has been plaguing nearly every large Canadian city," said executive secretary Phyllis Burns in a statement. Public opinion is divided on the question of how to cope with gangs.

"Is repression the answer, or can the energy of juvenile delinquents be channeled into socially acceptable patterns?"

Vancouver's handling of the problem will be studied. When an estimated 300 members of 12 organized gangs began battling among themselves and outsiders with knives, fists and lead-weighted blackjacks, police organized a special youth guidance detail.

Members, all veterans of the force, patroled known gang hangouts, pulled searches for concealed weapons and prevented the youths from gathering in large numbers.

Things are quieter now. Police admit, however, that many of the gangs have spread their activities to Summer resort towns. Now, narcotics addiction amongst teenagers is their big worry.

Experts in the field of youth guidance work who will speak here include Saul Bernstein, professor at the Boston University, and Philip Green, director of probation for Seattle.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Olympic Gold Fever Replaced by Gloom

PORT ANGELES, June 8 (AP).—The Olympic Peninsula's recent "gold fever" settled down to a pall of gloom today following two new assays of ore by a Seattle firm.

What amounted to a modern "gold rush" was reported last month after Mrs. Grace Melick, 43, found ore assayed at about $124 of gold a ton on her nearby ranch.

But she disclosed today that additional samples showed gold valued at only $1.50 and $2.21 a ton.

R. P. Lent, of the Lambert & Lent Laboratory in Seattle, said all three samples were put through an identical process. He suggested the initial sample might have contained a concentration of gold not common to the rest of the ore.

"These new assays are kind of discouraging," said Mrs. Melick.

"But we're sure not giving up. If we haven't got gold, maybe we've got uranium."

She has sent some samples to the Atomic Energy Commission office at Hanford, Wash., for testing.

Oddities

ENDICOTT, N.Y., June 8 (AP)—William Johnson doesn't mind cutting green stuff, as long as it's grass.

But yesterday, his wallet dropped unnoticed while he was operating a power mower in a park.

Patrolman Martin Dardis turned up at Johnson's home later with a handful of shredded bills, about $54. Dardis had discovered several persons scrambling for the pieces. He traced the money to Johnson through a sliced-up pay slip.

ERIE, Pa., June 8 (AP).—A pioneer of the oil industry who will be 95 years old Saturday says you can live just as long with tobacco and alcohol as without them.

"I smoke plenty," snapped D. H. Shira, retired oil well driller. "And whenever I have the need to, I'll sneak a glass of beer."

His formula for a long life includes beer, cigarettes, and hard work.

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 9 (INS).—Long Beach School officials were paging 104 locksmiths today.

Carpenters finished placing 104 cupboards in the Charles Buffum Elementary School. During the night vandals, presumably youngsters, broke into the building, locked all the cupboards and made off with the 104 keys.

Charlton Heston Assigned For Film Story in London

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 9 (INS)—Charlton Heston, the actor over whom all the shooting was about between Warner Bros and Hal Wallis, gets a London assignment.

Hal Wallis, who has Heston under contract, has bought David Demarest Lloyd's new book, "Son and Stranger," which he will make in England in the Spring. It's the story of an American flyer and an English girl during the war. Hal has high hopes of getting Jean Simmons for the femme lead.

JOLSON SEEKS ADVICE

When Todd Duncan gets here next month for "Lost in the Stars," Al Jolson will go into a huddle with Todd to get some technical advice and help on "Porgy and Bess." Tod sang the role of Porgy on Broadway 1,600 times—and he'll probably do "Lost in the Stars" that many, too. He's so good. I saw him when I was in New York during the Winter.

At the time Al went to New York to make an offer for the rights to the popular Gershwin opera I said so and was given a big denial. But I hear the deal for the film rights is practically set.

This is what I call an understanding ma-in-law. Before Jan Sterling married Paul Douglas, her mother, Mrs. Dean White, was living with her and having the time of her life in California. She is an attractive woman.

"But, when a daughter marries, it's time for mother to take off," says Mrs. White. "I adore Paul, but during the first year of a marriage it is a lot better if a couple is alone. There's no 'going home to mother' when mother isn't around!"

So the lady takes off for her former home, New York—a wise lady if I ever heard of one.

RANDOM SNAPSHOTS

Ingrid Bergman and Rossellini made one of their rare public appearances at the Rome Opera. The Italians, who seem to have taken Germen to their hearts, gave her a big hand.

Sylvia and Clark Gable will motor to Montana for his picture, "Across the Wide Missouri." Sylvia has never seen this part of the country so it will be sightseeing trip as well as a location jaunt for her.

Apropos of Clark. Dear prospective leading ladies for "Across the Wide Missouri"—don't send me telegrams and letters. Send them directly to Casting at MGM Studio, Culver City.

Hoot Gibson, former cowboy actor, will attempt a comeback on TV. Hoot is the boy who can do it—he's well liked among the fans.

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond spend their 13th wedding anniversary in Honolulu June 14. That's where they went on their honeymoon. Jeanette is also booked for four concerts there.

Pretty Mrs Buddy Clark and Cubby Broccoli are again dating.

Mischa Auer and his bride, Susanne Kalish, have decided to live in Rome. Had a cable from Mischa telling of his marriage, but he was a day late—news had already reached us.

Jesse L. Lasky had a call from New York asking him to revive "Gateway to Hollywood" on television. When it was on the radio he discovered a number of stars for the movies.

Pearl Bailey, the negro thrush, brought out a big crowd at Mocambo. Doris Duke and Raymond Hakim were ringsiders, also the George Sanders (Zsa Zsa Gabor), and Virginia Bruce and her husband, Ali Ipar, on one of their rare night club appearances.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Phillipa looked at him. She saw a tall, rather solemn young man with an anxious face and large spectacles. His sandy head was rumpled and he was regarding her with a reassuring friendliness.

"No," said Phillipa.

"Why?"

"You don't know anything about me."

"Is that all?"

"No, you don't know anything about anything."

Edmund considered.

"Perhaps not," he admitted. "But who does? Phillipa, my adored one—" He broke off.

A shrill and prolonged yapping was rapidly approaching.

"Please go away. Mrs. Lucas is coming."

"Oh!" said Edmund. "Get me a blasted vegetable marrow."

Sergeant Fletcher had the house at Little Paddocks to himself.

It was Mitzi's day off. She always went by the 11 o'clock bus into Medenham Wells. By arrangement with Miss Blacklock, Sergeant Fletcher had the run of the house. She and Dora Bunner had gone down to the village.

Fletcher worked fast. Someone in the house had oiled and prepared that door, and whoever had done it, had done it in order to be able to leave the drawing-room unnoticed as soon as the lights went out. That ruled out Mitzi who wouldn't have needed to use the door.

Sergeant Fletcher was free to search out any secrets he could. But the house was disappointingly innocent. Fletcher, who was an expert on electricity, could find nothing suggestive in the wiring or appurtenances of the electric fixtures to show how the lights had been fused.

Making a rapid survey of the household bedrooms he found an irritating normality. In Phillipa Haymes' room were photographs of a small boy with serious eyes, an earlier photo of the same child, a pile of schoolboy letters, a theatre program or two. In Julia's room there was a drawer full of snapshots of the south of France. Bathing photos, a villa set amidst mimosa. Patrick's held some souvenirs of naval days. Dora Bunner's held a few personal possessions and they seemed innocent enough.

Fletcher heard a sound below stairs. He went quick to the top of the staircase and looked down.

Mrs. Swettenham was crossing the hall. She had a basket on her arm. She looked into the drawing-room, crossed the hall and went into the dining-room. She came out again without the basket.

Some faint sound that Fletcher made, a board that creaked unexpectedly under his feet, made her turn her head. She called up.

"Is that you, Miss Blacklock?"

"No, Mrs. Swettenham, it's me," said Fletcher.

Mrs. Swettenham gave a faint scream.

"Oh! How you startled me. I thought it might be another burglar."

Fletcher came down the stairs.

"This house doesn't seem very well protected against burglars," he said. "Can anybody always walk in and out just as they like?"

"I just brought up some of my quinces," explained Mrs. Swettenham. "Miss Blacklock wants to make some quince jelly and she hasn't got a quince tree here. I left them in the dining-room."

Then she smiled.

"Oh, I see, you mean how did I get in? Well, I just came in through the side door. We all walk in and out of each other's houses, Sergeant. Nobody dreams of locking a door until it's dark. I mean it would be so awkward, wouldn't it, if you brought things and couldn't leave them? It's not like the old days when you rang a bell and a servant always came to answer it."

Mrs. Swettenham departed. Fletcher felt like a man who has received an unexpected jolt. He had been assuming—erroneously, he now perceived—that it must have been someone in the house who had done the oiling of the door. An outsider had only to wait until Mitzi had departed by bus and Letitia Blacklock and Dora Bunner were both out of the house. Such an opportunity must have been simplicity itself. That meant that he couldn't rule out anybody who had been in the drawing-room that night.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - - -

By Howard Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY GETS THE SAIL

Uncle Wiggily's ears got as red as his pink, twinkling nose while he stood in his bedroom with the sheet in his paws. Nurse Jane stood in the doorway, shaking one paw at the blushing rabbit gentleman.

"I caught you, didn't I, Uncle Wiggily?" squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Yes, you did," admitted Mr. Longears. "You caught me. Bunty said you would, but I didn't think so."

"Taking a sheet off your bed! Ha! Ha! I know what you are going to do with that sheet."

"Do—do you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. He couldn't think of anything else to say.

"Yes, indeed, I know," went on Nurse Jane. "You are going to make yourself look like a jolly, funny ghost at the masquerade party Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, is giving tonight. That's what you are going to do with that sheet from your bed, Uncle Wiggily. You are going to Mrs. Twistytail's masquerade party as a ghost."

"Oh—Oh—Am I?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, you are! I caught you!" laughed Nurse Jane. "But you didn't need to sneak up the back stairs. This is your bungalow, this is your bed and these are your sheets. But don't you want a clean one?"

With his heart beating fast, Uncle Wiggily now knew that he was going to get away with the sheet. His secret, that he wanted the sheet for Buster's boat, had not been discovered.

"Don't you want a clean sheet, Uncle Wiggily?" Nurse Jane asked.

"Oh, no! Ha! ha! This one will do very well!" laughed the bunny uncle. "It will be just what Bus—I mean what I want."

"Well, now that you have the sheet, please take it and go," went on Nurse Jane. "I want to make your bed. I was going to put on a clean sheet, anyhow. The one you have can go in the wash after you play the jolly, funny ghost at Mrs Twistytail's party."

"Oh, oh! Ha! ha! All right!" giggled Mr Longears.

"I suppose you are laughing to think what fun you'll have," said Nurse Jane as she began to pull apart Uncle Wiggily's bed.

"Yes, I hope to have fun," said Mr. Longears.

"And if you see Buster," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "tell him not to send any more of his chums up here to get rugs for a sail on his boat. He can't have any of my rugs for a sail."

"I—I'm sure Buster won't need any rug for a sail now, Nurse Jane."

"He'd better not, Uncle Wiggily. And don't you lose that sheet!"

"No, Nurse Jane. I won't. I'll be careful of it and I'll have fun. Yes, I'll have fun and an adventure."

"Playing a ghost with a sheet over your head is lots of fun," said Nurse Jane as she plumped the pillows of Uncle Wiggily's bed.

"You caught me."

"I'm going to the Twistytail party myself. But I won't tell anyone you are the ghost under one of your own bed sheets," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Thank you, Nurse Jane! Ha! ha! ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily.

Nurse Jane also laughed. "Ha! ha! ha!"

Still laughing to himself, Uncle Wiggily hopped down the back stairs, out of his bungalow and to the garage where Buster was building the boat. The rabbit scout and his chums were pounding and hammering away at their boat.

"Did you get the sail, daddy?" asked Buster.

"Yes, I got it," answered Mr. Longears. "Now let's hurry and finish the boat and go sailing on Frog Pond." The boat was finished, the sheet sail was fastened to the mast, the boat was hauled to Frog Pond and put into the water.

"All aboard! All aboard!" shouted Captain Buster. And then another voice shouted: "Wait! wait!"

I'll tell you more tomorrow if the big bottle of milk isn't too proud to speak to the little bottle of cream when they meet on the doormat.

United Churches Will Commemorate Merger With Special Park Service

The 25th anniversary of the United Church of Canada will be marked Sunday with a special service in Beacon Hill Park and appropriate sermons in all United Churches.

The outdoor service will begin at 3 p.m. under the chairmanship of Rev. W. R. Ashford, of Centennial United Church, and chairman of the Victoria Presbytery.

Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, Rev. William Allan, Rev. W W McPherson, Rev. Moir A. J. Waters, Rev. Douglas S. Carr, Rev. T. G. Griffiths, and Mr. Ashford will tell the history of the church from their respective pulpits.

Taking part in the Beacon Hill Park service will be Dr Whitehouse, Dr. Andrew Reid and Rev. G. R. McGillivray.

DR. W. G. WILSON, MA, DD

SPECIAL ADDRESS

Dr. W. G. Wilson, who was minister of First United Church here at the time of the union and was one of the active members of the church union committee, will give the address.

Massed United Church choirs will sing under the leadership of J Roberto Wood with Edgar Holloway at the organ.

Musical selections will be "The Lord Is My Shepherd," Crimmond tune, and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah." The public is invited to attend.

In Toronto, at Maple Leaf Gardens, there will be a national observance to be attended by 17,000 people. The Toronto Symphony Orchestra will be featured with a massed choir.

SPECIAL OFFERING

The day has also been set aside as a special thankoffering day, when envelopes will be placed in all churches for the provision of a fund to aid recruits to the Church.

Rev W Harold Young, secretary of the Board of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the United Church of Canada has remarked: "The aid the Church now gives candidates for the ministry is pitiful."

Colorful Displays of Blooms Await Week-End Park Visitors

A very interesting collection of flowers are in bloom along the road leading into Beacon Hill Park from Douglas Street, Parks Administrator W H Warren stated yesterday.

"Iceland poppies and ranunculus are still making a fine showing and pansies are at their prime. German iris also are at their peak," he advised. "Just coming into bloom is the blue nepeta or catnip, a very useful edging plant. When it has finished blooming it can be cut down and in a few weeks it will bloom a second time."

Mr Warren said hawthorn trees in the park are in full bloom and are also making a fine show on the boulevards.

EFFECTIVE COLORS

"Alongside the stream the contrasting colors of the Japanese maple is very effective against the green coloration of the other trees and shrubs," stated the parks administrator. "Japanese primulas, Siberian iris and rhododendrons are in full bloom here."

He said the blue poppies near the rose garden are attracting a great deal of attention while the early Japanese iris are beginning to bloom on the lake edge nearby.

Mr Warren said that six cygnets have been successfully hatched since last week and a third fawn has arrived in the deer enclosure.

Seek Magazines For Scrapbooks

An appeal for magazines containing pictures of various racial groups has been launched by the committee for children's teaching in the Baha'i faith.

Mrs. Phillip Greenwood, secretary of the committee, said that scrapbooks showing characteristics of races are being compiled in Victoria for distribution to Baha'i children's education groups all over Canada.

Magazines may be sent to 224 Wilson Street, or they will be picked up in response to a phone call to Empire 0910.

Executive elected are as follows: Mrs. R. D. Harvey, Mrs. Stuart Kenning, Miss C. W Small, Miss Lottie Bowron, Mrs. F. T. Fairey, Mrs. James Hobson and Mrs. J. L. Muirhead

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Mrs. R. G. McKee, secretary, gave a comprehensive report, stating membership of the club was 763, of whom 226 were new members.

"Two bursaries of $100 each were presented to our scholarship winners," Mrs. McKee stated, "who were Garth Jones and Jennifer Munday, both of Victoria High School. The Canadian history prize was won by Sheila Hardie of Margaret Jenkins School"

Pleas for charitable organisations were made at club meetings. These included the Community Chest, International Children's Emergency Fund and the Arthritic Fund. The sum of $200 was donated to the children's emergency fund. Collections were taken for the Flood Fund.

Main object of the club, Mrs McKee said, was to present worthwhile speakers, and these had included Mr. Beverley Baxter, Mr. Robert McKenzie, Mr. Elmore Philpott, Mrs. A W. Kleiforth, Dr. B. K. Sandwell, Hon. Adrian Roberts and Mr. Sidney Pettit of Victoria College.

Two teas had been held during the year, one to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the club and the other a Spring tea.

In her report as treasurer, Mrs. V. C. Annett stated there was a bank balance of $912 Total disbursements had been $2,418.

COVERS ELECTION

Miss Ellen Harris of the C.B.C. was guest speaker for the afternoon and talked about her trip to England during the last general election. Miss Harris, who flew abroad, was invited to dinner by Lady Nancy Astor the night following her arrival and went with her to a Conservative meeting.

Election night, Miss Harris mingled with the crowd in Piccadilly Circus, "eavesdropping" to get the general reaction. She noted that a great many people were of two minds. While things were very quiet election night, Miss Harris said there was great excitement and elation the next day as Conservative gains grew.

Miss Harris attended a session of the House of Commons for the first vote of confidence of the new Government. She saw Mr. Churchill, who "looked rather pale and ill but who was intensely alert." Miss Harris also had tea and an interview with Patricia Hornsby Smith, a new Conservative M.P.

CLOSE TO PEOPLE

That which impressed Miss Harris most about her trip was the obvious close link between British M.P.'s and their constituents. "In Britain," she said, "the members of Parliament and the people they represent are very close. Most M.P.'s visit their constituents once a week. They discuss problems of their districts; the member is looked on as a friend and advisor. I feel in Canada that we could copy the British. Lots of people don't know who represents them in Parliament and how many times do we hear of a Canadian M.P. visiting his own district?"

An interesting sidelight of Miss Harris' trip was a visit she paid to Switzerland, where she met Mr. Ritz of the famous Ritz Hotel in Paris. Mr Ritz, it developed, has been to Vancouver Island and even wears proudly in his hat a silver salmon pin which he won at Cowichan one year.

Clothing Sent

Stanley Gordon Chapter, I.O.D.E., Lake Cowichan, forwarded 240 pounds of good used clothing to Vancouver headquarters for the Manitoba Relief Fund

To Reside in Vancouver

At Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Willows, the marriage of Gwendolyne, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Herbert George Brown of Ladysmith to Paul Fortier, son of Mr and Mrs. Philias Fortier, 1480 Fort Street was solemnized by Rev. Father M Mc-Namara

The pretty bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in white brocaded satin fashioned with round neckline finished with a nylon fold, caught at intervals with pearls, fitted bodice and lily point sleeves, scallops at the hemline of the full skirt revealed ruffles on the lace underskirt. A pearl coronet headdress held her floor-length veil of illusion net. A pearl sunburst which had belonged to her great grandmother, was the bride's only jewelry, and she carried long-stemmed red roses to complete her costume. Attendants were Miss Gwen McDonald of Vancouver, maid of honor, wearing pale yellow nylon sheer over taffeta with floral bandeau and matching chapel veil, and carrying a Colonial bouquet of yellow carnations and mauve sweet peas. Miss A. Fortier and Miss S. Tollock wore bridesmaids' gowns of pink and turquoise sheer over taffeta respectively. Their hair bandeaux with matching chapel veils, duplicated the white carnations and mauve and pink sweet peas in their Colonial bouquets

The bridegroom had his brother, Mr Marcel Fortier, as best man, and ushers were Mr William and Mr Terence Atherley.

The reception was held at Strathcona Hotel where Mrs. Brown gowned in grey taffeta with navy blue and pink accessories and rose-bud corsage, and Mrs. Fortier wearing old rose with grey accessories and pink roses en corsage welcomed guests with the newlyweds. A three-tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, was cut by the couple

Leaving for the honeymoon the bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit with white-flowered hat, blue accessories and a corsage of red roses and lily of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fortier will make their home in Vancouver.

Raise $105 For Flood

Sponsored by the guild of St Michael's Church, West Saanich Road, the sum of $105 was realized at a dance held in Royal Oak Community Hall recently; proceeds will go to the Manitoba Flood Fund

During the intermission Mrs. G. Harvey sang two solos, and the original Royal Oak Rockettes danced and sang a parody on the Red River Valley. Mr F Belshaw and Mr. F. Polson acted jointly as masters of ceremony. The W.I. donated the hall for the evening and Mrs. Quinton and the Prospect Lake orchestra donated their services

ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of St. Alban's A.Y.P.A., held recently, the following members were elected to the executive: President, Miss Marion Pugh; vice-president, Miss Bernice Mullen; secretary, Miss Sylvia Inkpen; treasurer, Mr. Bill Osselton. Social conveners Miss Phyllis Sinnamon and Mr. Bill Osselton. Local council representatives, Miss Marion Pugh, Miss Bernice Mullen and Mr. Bill Osselton.

Firm Gains Reputation For Industrial Work

—Marine News—

By RAY WORMALD

Through means of efficient operation and inauguration of many new and faster methods, Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. is rapidly gaining a fine reputation throughout the Pacific Northwest, and in other parts of Canada, for its ability to handle industrial projects of various types.

Among a number of such jobs handled by the shipyard firm was the building of a huge steel tank to be used for the storage of propane gas in Calgary. This unit, started about 20 working days ago, was dispatched from the Bay Street plant yesterday on its way to the Alberta city by railway flat car. The tank measures 50 feet in length and just over eight feet in diameter. Designed especially for its purpose, the tank will have a working pressure of 200 pounds per square inch.

In hydraulic tests the tank was subjected to pressure up to 400 pounds per square inch. It was built for Propane Engineering Service Ltd., of Calgary.

MORE ORDERS LIKELY

Officials of V.M.D. report that orders for two similar tanks are expected within a few months. High tensile steel plate used in the making of the unit measures 15/16 of an inch thick.

By far the largest single project under way, at the shipyard's Outer Wharf plant, is the production of approximately seven miles of heavy water main pipeline, being built for the City of Victoria. To handle this job, V.M.D. recently established a large and modern steel pipeline plant at the Outer Wharf site already recognized as among the most efficient on the North American continent.

CHARTERED FOR CRUISE

The 75-foot motor vessel Twanoh, of Seattle, has been chartered for the Y.M.C.A.'s annual one-week cruise to Princess Louise Inlet, according to Bob Morrison, program director for the Victoria "Y."

The vessel will leave the Puget Sound port on the morning of July 8, carrying a Seattle "Y" party, and will reach this city that evening. Members of the Victoria party will board here, and the cruise will be under way.

Any Victorians interested in participating in this cruise are asked to communicate with Mr. Morrison at the local Y.M.C.A. Building. It is expected about 25 will be signed up for the trip.

FISHING IMPROVES

Sockeye fishing has picked up to a considerable extent on the West Coast salmon grounds, according to a report from Port Alberni yesterday. One fishing vessel took 150 fish to the West Coast port Thursday as its day's catch.

Four large trollers delivered a total of 10,000 pounds of spring salmon this week to the Port Alberni Fishing Company, the fish bringing 32 cents a pound to the fishermen. Vessels in which the catch was delivered were the Early Spring I, Navigator I, Sleepner and Manhattan.

BUOY MISSING

Mariners are advised that the northerly black wooden spar buoy off the wharf at Sidney is reported missing, and that the red wooden spar buoy off Sidney wharf is about 300 yards north of its charted position. These navigational aids will be attended to as soon as possible, reports Tom Morrison, local agent for the Transport Department.

Huge Tank Built in 20 Days

This 50-foot steel tank, to be used for storage of propane gas in Calgary, is one of many industrial steel projects being handled by Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd. Tank is pictured being made ready for shipment to Alberta city on railway flatcar. It was built in 20 working days.

One Avenue Remains

Loses Chance of Appeal From Driving Conviction

Sergeant Thomas Stevenson, city police, has lost his chance of an appeal to Supreme Court from a dangerous driving conviction, because the appeal was not filed within the time-limit.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane yesterday ruled that no special circumstances had been put forward that would justify his granting an extention of the four-day time limit for an "appeal by stating a case."

NO VALID REASON

He said that delay in preparation of a transcript of evidence in Saanich police court was not a valid reason for an extension, because there was nothing to show that the transcript was necessary.

However, Sgt. Stevenson still has another avenue of appeal. His appeal from a $25 fine and six-month licence suspension imposed May 25 by Magistrate A. I. Thomas will probably be heard in County Court next September.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

"Why should a police officer be any different from any other citizen?" Crown Counsel C. L. Harrison argued yesterday. "I say no special privileges should be given to him any more than to any other person."

Sgt. Stevenson was acquitted some time ago by Magistrate H. C. Hall of careless driving under the old Section 57 of the Motor Vehicle Act, which has since been held to be ultra vires of the province. A new charge was laid under the Criminal Code. It was argued on Sgt. Stevenson's behalf that no man should be tried twice for the same offence.

Company to Add Express Service

Effective June 15, Greyhound Lines will inaugurate increased and improved bus service.

Two through express schedules from Seattle to Portland and California will be added, with convenient connections for the East. This will bring the total express schedules from Seattle to California to eight trips daily.

In addition, Greyhound service from Seattle to Yakima and Yakima Valley points will be improved.

Pair Charged For Sprinkling

Two Saanich residents were charged in Saanich police court on Thursday with watering their lawns in restricted hours.

H. F. Aston, 385 Obed Avenue, and J. Huddleston, 243 Obed Avenue, were remanded until June 15. Both pleaded not guilty.

William Norman Spacil, 1818 Vancouver Street, was remanded until June 15 on a careless driving charge. Constable Albert Green, Saanich police, said he paced Spacil at speeds up to 70 m.p.h. on Quadra Street, June 1.

Ten motorists were fined a total of $100 for traffic offences. Three were fined $15 each for exceeding the 30-mile speed limit; three were fined $10 for speeding in school zones; one was fined $10 for having no muffler; two were fined $5 for passing stop signs; one was fined $5 for failing to give a hand signal.

Court Quashes City Conviction

Careless driving conviction of James Wheeler last January was quashed by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court Thursday.

He granted a writ of certiorari sought by J. A. Byers, counsel for Mr. Wheeler, to move the record of the police court conviction into the higher court.

It was the latest in a series of upset convictions of persons charged under the old Section 57 of the Provincial Motor Vehicle Act, which was pronounced ultra vires by Mr. Justice Macfarlane. The section has since been replaced by a new, legally watertight section, but persons convicted under the old section are entitled to appeal if they fall within the time-limit.

SEA-GOING STEAM BATH

VANCOUVER (CP) — Something new has been added to British Columbia's coastal service. The Norwegian vessel Hoegh Clair, newest member of the Canadian Gulf Line's fleet, is powered by a special "steam motor" instead of the usual Diesel power plant. One reason for the change is that it allows for a steam bath for the crew.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♦	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Despite the fact that East's diamond bid had been overcalled by South with two no trump, West felt that a diamond lead was better than a blind stab in spades or hearts. So he led the diamond nine.

Now let's observe what actually happened—and later talk about the several points and ramifications involved.

East played the diamond seven on the first trick — he did not put up the queen. South had to win with the diamond jack (or resign himself to winning only one trick in the suit), and then, after long thought, he knocked out the ace of hearts. West returned his last diamond, and this time, of course, East overtook to be sure that South's last stopper would be knocked out. South tried to run his entire heart suit, and failed; so his only chance was to run the clubs. East, however, had that suit under excellent control, and when he got in with the club king he rattled off the rest of his diamonds.

Now for our "observations."

First, it is easy to see that if South, after winning the first trick with the diamond jack, had cleared the club suit, East could have been held to a grand total of no diamond tricks! Second, however, is the point that this possible outcome could not detract an iota from the excellence of East's first trick ducking play! If he had put up the diamond queen, declarer would have had to be a very bad player to go wrong! Common, elementary prudence would have told South to let East hold the first trick with his diamond queen—and after that, successful defence would be out of the question.

Thus East's play had the inestimable virtue of giving the enemy the chance to go wrong.

London Market Keeping Active

LONDON, June 9 (Reuters).—British Government stocks captured most of the business in the London Stock Exchange today. Once again there was substantial trading in the short-dated and 3½-per-cent issues and prices moved higher to close ¼ per cent up on the day.

Other sections were under the restraining influence of the approaching week-end and price movements showed irregularity. Leading industrials advanced at the outset with Courtaulds a good market following the results for the year.

The market subsequently became idle and most of the gains were lost. Nevertheless the undertone remained firm.

Oil shares encountered a selective demand and closed firm. Ultramar issues were again in demand on hopes of good production figures.

Week-end levelling brought fractional losses to German bonds. Others in the foreign section remained quietly steady.

June dividend announcements by Kaffir Gold Producers had little effect on gold share prices. The section failed to hold an early firmness and closed occasionally easier on the day.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox, 62s. 6d.; Boots Pure Drug, 50s. 3d; Canadian Pacific, £29½; Central Mining, £2 7-6; Consolidated Gold Fields, 55s.; Courtaulds, 38s. 4½d.; Hudson's Bay Co., 85s.; Imperial Chemical, 41s. 9d.; Imperial Tobacco, 108s. 1½d.; Metal Box, 89s.; Mexican Eagle, 18s. 9d.; Rand Mines, 133s. 6d.

Bonds: British 2½ per cent consols, £70⅞; British 3½ per cent war loans, £93½; British fundings, 4s., 1960-1990, £107⅞.

DEREHAM, Norfolk, England (CP).—A canvas replica of a new war memorial is to be put up here. The idea is that residents can see how it will look before the real thing is built.

Automobile, Steel and Rail Issues Make Top Gains on New York Market

Blue-chip stocks shot ahead to new highs in yesterday's market in New York.

Automobile, steel and rail issues took top honors with gains running to around three points. Some shares sold at record highs and the market generally hit a four-year peak.

For the bulk of the market gains were smaller, most amounting to less than a point.

PROFITS THREATEN ADVANCES

Profit taking sales threatened the advance off and on, particularly late in the day, but were absorbed in good style for the most part. Radio-television issues were a major exception, closing lower after an early rise. Others closed only a little under their best.

The rising price curve attracted heavy trading, with sales up to 2,130,000 shares from 1,790,000 Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 80.1, highest point reached since June, 1946. The rail group outdistanced industrials for a change while utilities ran a poor third.

OILS BOUNCE AHEAD

In Toronto industrial and Western oil stocks bounced strongly ahead into new high price territory on the Stock Exchange after starting on a continuation of Friday's decline. Sudden buying that appeared in mid-session carried the two groups well ahead. Activity increased on the upturn. Volume was about 3,000,000 shares.

Market leaders were strongest in industrials. The exchange's index of representative industrials came well ahead to a new peak.

Golds and base metals settled into a narrow price path.

TRENDS IRREGULAR

Trends were generally irregular to stronger in moderately active trading near the final hour on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market.

Changes were minor fractions, the odd issue moving around a point.

Industrial volume was 52,700 shares and mines 548,400 shares.

Utilities were up, followed by senior oils. Beverages and carriers were irregular, while base metals, steels and banks were steady to softer.

Alberta Crops Need Rain To Halt Drifting of Soil

WINNIPEG, June 9.—Fairly rapid advancement with seeding in Manitoba, where moisture is described as adequate, and reports of dust storm in Saskatchewan and soil drifting in Alberta, where rain is required, is noted in the Canadian Pacific Railway agricultural department crop report issued Thursday.

Southwestern sections of Manitoba around Lyleton and on the railway's Estevan and Arcola subdivisions would welcome rain but precipitation for the rest of the province was satisfactory. Seeding is now general, except in the Red River Valley flood areas.

In flooded areas it is noted that rapid drying of the land is reported and indications are that considerable seeding of coarse grains will be done, particularly along the edges of the affected territory, although to what extent is still unpredictable.

MOSTLY SOWN

Only 2 per cent of the wheat and 7 per cent of the oats and barley remain to be sown in Saskatchewan. They need rain, particularly in the central section and southwest.

The soil drifting in Alberta was principally in southwest-central and east-central sections. For the province as a whole seeding is practically completed. In the Peace River area moisture conditions are excellent and most wheat is now well above ground.

BEETS UP

In Southern Alberta 95 per cent of the 27,200 acres planted to sugar beets is up, 3,600 acres have been thinned and 270 acres replanted because of wind damage.

In the line of pests, grasshoppers, delayed in hatching by cool weather, are now showing up in Southwestern and Central Saskatchewan. The central section of Manitoba reports a heavy growth of wild oats.

Crude Oil Struck By Wildcat Well

CALGARY, June 9 (CP).—A wildcat well, 40 miles southwest of Peace River, Alta., is reported to have struck heavy crude oil after penetrating 300 feet of gas-saturated sand.

The well, Shell-B.A. Whitelaw No. 1, got a rise of oil believed to be about 14 gravity while testing below 3,855 feet. The oil was compared with that found in the Lloydminster field but slightly lighter.

Previous tests at the well gave gas flows at rates from 1,000,000 to 7,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Oats Prices Close Lower

WINNIPEG, June 9 (CP).—Some irregular trading appeared in coarse grains in trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, with more liberal offerings than usual showing in oats accompanied by non-aggressive support. Oats prices closed lower.

Trading was moderately active.

Barley managed to recover after early losses and rye moved up on American support.

The United Kingdom was allocated 1,200,000 bushels of wheat under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement and Belgium took a small parcel.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"Between the Devil and the Deep Sea," and similar sayings.

The person who finds himself "Between the devil and the deep sea" has the choice of two courses of action, both undesirable; it is another "Hobson's choice." The saying is a very old one, being traced back in the celebrated "Adagia," the work of the great Dutch scholar, Erasmus, which dates 1500. And with Erasmus it was a quotation from the ancient Greek.

This metaphor is reminiscent of another, one still longer in European literature and speech, whose classical origin is more apparent in the saying itself. This is "Between Scylla and Charybdis," and it comes directly from the Homeric fable where the choice of alternate difficulties is personified in Scylla, a rock, and Charybdis, a whirlpool. Such a choice confronting a mariner in the Straits of Messina was a Hobson's choice indeed.

The latter saying began to circulate in European languages toward the end of the 13th Century, being taken then from a work by a Flemish poet, Philippe Gaultier de Lille, who died at the beginning of the century. With time came more and more allusions to the idea, as for instance Shakespeare's usage in "The Merchant of Venice": "When I shun Scylla, your father, I fall in Charybdis, your mother." And thus the saying became very popular in English literature.

The classical ancients seemed to like these hard-choice metaphors. They also contributed "Between the wolf and the dog," and "Between altar and axe!"

Below-Par Wheat Crop Forecast

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP).—A below-average wheat crop of 944,514,000 bushels was forecast by the Agriculture Department today.

This is the first estimate of the year for the combined Winter and Spring wheat crops. It compares with 1,146,463,000 produced last year and 1,030,000,000 for the 10-year (1939-48) average.

The indicated reduction from last year reflects unfavorable weather and reduced plantings under a government acreage allotment program designed to prevent accumulation of a surplus supply.

MORE THAN MONTH AGO

Winter wheat was forecast at 710,516,000 bushels, or 20,561,000 more than the 689,595,000 predicted a month ago. It compares with 901,668,000 last year and 758,281,000 for the 10-year average.

Spring wheat was forecast at 234,356,000 bushels on the basis largely of prospective plantings reported in March and the June 1 condition of the crop. No previous forecast has been made for this type wheat. Production last year was 244,795,000 bushels and 272,491,000 for the 10-year average.

Rye production was forecast at 22,446,000 bushels compared with 20,904,000 indicated a month ago, 16,697,000 last year and 32,155,000 for the ten-year average.

WILL BE SUPPLEMENTED

This year's crop will be supplemented by a carry over of about 450,000,000 bushels.

The oats crop was forecast at 1,380,032,000 bushels, compared with 1,491,752,000 last year and 1,234,082,000 for the ten-year average.

The barley crop was estimated at 276,536,000 bushels, compared with 317,037,000 last year and 304,741,000 for the ten-year average.

The yield of Winter wheat to the acre was forecast at 16.4 bushels compared with 16 bushels indicated a month ago, 16.3 last year and 17.5 for the ten-year average.

Conditions of various crops as of June 1 compared with the same date last year and the 10-year June 1 average, respectively, included:

All Spring wheat 78 per cent of normal June 1; 84 per cent a year ago, and 84 for the ten-year average.

Durum wheat 67; 86 and 84, other Spring wheat 79; 83 and 84; oats 79; 87 and 81; and barley 76; 84 and 81.

Harrison Peps Up To Take Open Lead

One-Day Wonder Lee Mackey Six Off Pace—Snead, Demaret Just Manage to Qualify

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

ARDMORE, Pa., June 9 (INS).—Droll Dutch Harrison broiled himself a 67 today to seize midpoint control in the National Open and lead an abrupt turnabout by almost every name golfer except Sam Snead — who kept marching resolutely to the rear.

Harrison's three-under-par 67 was not the best round of the sun-treated day at Merion Golf Club—Johnny Bulla had a 66—but it went extremely well with the Arkansas traveler's first-round score of 72 yesterday, compounding a 36-hole card of 139—one under par for that distance.

HOGAN CLOSING IN

Bulla and two broad-shouldered cronies, Jim Ferrier and Julius Boros, stood a stroke back at 140, while at 141 the tight-lipped spectre of Ben Hogan lurked like a jaguar in the jungle.

The one-day wonder of the Open—Lee Mackey, Jr., who broke every dish in the house with his record-smearing first-round 64 yesterday—blundered home in 81 strokes today for a 36-hole count of 145.

Even at that, he wasn't as bad off as Snead, golfdom's greatest winner, whose derelict putter betrayed him again today and presented him with a five-over-par 75 and a 36-hole total of 146.

SNEAD APPEARS OUT

Thus Snead could be dismissed as a possible winner of the tournament tomorrow, when the low 50 scorers of the first 36 holes play the final 36. With a nine-stroke deficit, Sam was just about as dead as Al Brosch, who followed Mackey with a 67 yesterday only to spin right out of the field with an 84 today that gave him a total of 151—not low enough to qualify for tomorrow.

All those who shot 149 or under for their first 36 holes made it into the Saturday showdown, which figures to attract a crowd bigger than yesterday's 7,000 and today's 10,000 combined.

High among the qualifiers was a sextette at 143, including Cary Middlecoff, the defending champ who had his second straight 71 today, and 1946 Open titlist Lloyd Mangrum, whose second round today produced a straight par 70.

The other 142's were Henry Picard, Skip Alexander, Skee Riegel and Bob Toski. Riegel and Toski had two of the five one-under-par 69's that were shot today.

Al Besselink, Johnny Palmer, Bill Nary and Henry Ransom were closeted at 143, while the 144's comprised Harold Williams, Joe Thacker, Denny Shute and that sterling two-time Open champ, Gene Sarazen.

FOUR CHAMPIONS

Sarazen was one of four out of 11 former Open champs to qualify for the decisive 36. The others were Middlecoff, Hogan and Mangrum.

Billy Burke, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell, Tony Manero, Lawson Little, Craig Wood and Lew Worsham didn't qualify.

Neither did the Australian ace Norman Von Nida, who had a 150, and hot tournament choice Jimmy Demaret just got in with 149, a swing back of Snead.

Harrison got his decisive birdie on the 16th hole — known to most as the black hole of Calcutta. Here he dropped a five-foot putt after practically stabbing the flag with his iron approach.

The tall, easy-going Harrison, who has never stood this high in Open play, was over par twice on his front nine, but he one-putted the seventh and ninth greens for birdies, canning a 13-footer on the latter.

Coming back, Dutch birdied ten and 13, exploding dramatically out of a trap to within a yard of home on the tenth.

Johnson will replace Harry Mitchell on medley mile quartette which will be seeking new Canadian record. Mitchell will not compete because of illness of his father.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Thursday night's blow-up at Salem was as inevitable as tomorrow morning's deadline. It was only a matter of time before Manager Marty Krug would have to tramp—and tramp hard—on Edo Vanni if he wished to remain in control of his ball club. Krug went along further than most managers would but when he did clamp down, he did it with a firmness and finality which must have been a bit of a revelation to one or two would-be malcontents on the ball team.

A lot of fans, more particularly those who claim to have found fault with Krug's managerial tactics, will undoubtedly side with the suspended outfielder. So will a number of others who mistakenly thought what they were seeing was color and hustle. But Vanni's case is indeed a weak one and if Krug can be blamed for what has happened, he can be blamed only because he did not crack down sooner.

Vanni is admittedly one of the best lead-off men and base-runners in the W.I.L. Obtaining a replacement who can match him statistically may be quite a task yet the Victoria Athletics will be a better ball club without the Vanni they knew. The little outfielder had the ability, yet it must have been evident that he wasn't giving out although he was always careful at home to maintain that appearance of hustle.

It is a pity, too. A Vanni playing the baseball he can play with the club's welfare as his motivation could have been a tremendous help. It was with this hope that the A's went to considerable expense to sign him although well aware of his past reputation as a stormy petrel.

Now, Vanni is like a poker player who had the wrong hunch, shoved in his stack to back a bluff and had his hand called. He has no more chips and nothing to say about when he can get back in the game.

Whether or not he will get back this season remains to be seen. It is extremely doubtful that Vanni, convincing as he can be, could persuade Business-Manager Reg Patterson or Krug to permit him to return to the club. There is no chance that he will be released and it won't be easy to sell or trade him. To top it off, he faces almost certain disciplinary action from the W.I.L. It begins to appear as if the percentage has finally caught up with him. If he wishes to remain in baseball, he will have to become part of the game.

Next game, tomorrow: Chinese Students vs. Douglas Tire, Royal Athletic Park, 2:30 p.m.

Chinese Students again had trouble with Bluebird Cabs and dropped a 12-11 decision to the Cabbies at Upper Central last night to fall two games behind the leading Douglas Tire squad in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League. The victory boosted the Bluebirds into third place, a game and a half behind the Students.

Although the game took well over two hours and produced plenty of hitting, it lacked spectator interest as five pitchers futilely tried to take command. Students blew a 7-1 lead, tied the count at 10-10 and made a gallant attempt to pull out the decision in the bottom of the ninth after falling two runs behind.

FIRST START

Ed Fong made his first start of the season for the Students and had a 7-3 two-hitter going into the sixth. His control deserted him and he went out under fire after three walks, a single, an error, a fielder's choice and two successful double steals had given the Cabbies three runs and left the bases full. Coach Stan Tenning replaced him and gave up two singles and a three-run triple by Lum Lomas before retiring the side. Cabbies had a total of eight runs on four hits and were ahead, 10-7.

Charlie McKay checked the Students effectively, after replacing Al Majorki in the third, until he weakened in the seventh, when the Chinese tied the count on two doubles, a single and two walks.

Students came apart at the seams in the eighth and handed Cabbies the decision when Cliff McKay drove in two unearned runs with a double. Students almost pulled it out in the bottom of the ninth. Toy Mar tripled and scored on Gordie Chow's single. Jimmy Chan and Don Robinson drew walks to fill the bases but Bung Derr skied high to left field to end the game.

Tenning gave up the winning runs before being replaced by Chan in the eighth and was charged with the loss.

Double-Header Scheduled In Cup Soccer

Victoria's 1949-50 soccer season will take another step towards completion today when a double-header of Province Cup matches will be played at Macdonald Park.

Victoria United, local Coast League entry, will tangle with Canadian Legion in the initial game at 2:00 p.m., and Heeney's will play Duncan in the other semi-final contest immediately after.

The United scored a 6-4 victory over a strong Esquimalt XI in its quarter-final match while Canadian Legion had difficulty edging out a short-handed Oak Bay team. The Bays, playing with one man short, held Legion to a 1-1 overtime draw in one match and then lost the replay 4-1 when they tired in the last half.

Victoria Climbs Almost Out of Cellar As Wilkie Aids Hedgecock to Fifth Win

Victoria Athletics took another step nearer to vacating the Western International League cellar last night when they shellacked the second-place Yakima Bears 11-6 at Yakima last night. It was the A's fourth victory against no defeats in games with the Bears this year.

Jim Hedgecock posted his fifth victory against three defeats for the A's but needed help from Aldon Wilkie when he lost his control in the sixth. Wilkie just lobbed the ball at the Yakima batters but held them scoreless over the last three innings.

Hedgecock and Wilkie gave up 11 walks between them but the A's made better use of 13 passes issued by Yakima hurlers Lloyd Dickey and Domenichelli. Four Yakima errors also figured heavily in the scoring.

Victoria went ahead in the first when Gene Thompson singled home Jimmy Moore, who had also singled and advanced to second on an infield out. Jim Westlake doubled home two Yakima runs in the bottom half of the inning.

DICKEY WILD

Dickey's wildness put the A's in front to stay in the third. Junior Krug, playing right field in place of Edo Vanni, and Jim Wert drew walks and advanced on an infield out. Krug scored the tying run on a wild pitch and Wert also came in as Dickey let Tiesiera's rally get away from him on an attempt to get Krug at the plate.

The A's added three more runs in the fourth on singles by Billy Dunn and Jimmy Moore, a walk and two infield plays. Two errors by Pete Coscarart, a walk and fielder's choice gave the A's another in the fifth to make it 7-2.

Triples by Al Ronning and Krug highlighted a big eighth inning as the A's insured the victory with a four-run rally.

Every member of the A's except the pitchers garnered at least one hit with Dunn, Moore and K. Chorlton picking up two each. The infield sparked and cut off three Yakima rallies with as many double plays.

Vancouver's seventh-place margin over the A's was cut to a single game as the Caps split a double-header with Spokane Indians, winning the opener, 6-5, and dropping the second, 5-2. Wenatchee took over fourth place by whipping Tri-City Braves, 7-1, while Tacoma and Salem were rained out.

Marshall Stays With A's, Should Pitch Tomorrow

Victoria baseball fans can breathe easier today. John Marshall, Victoria Athletics' leading pitcher, has decided not to voluntarily join Edo Vanni in exile and is with the club in Yakima. He is scheduled to pitch one of tomorrow's games.

Marshall threatened to quit the club when Vanni was fined and suspended Thursday night in a stormy clubhouse session. Manager Marty Krug asked him to think it over and Marshall decided to accompany the club to Yakima after a talk with his manager yesterday morning. However, it appears as if Vanni will not be back.

SENT BACK HOME

Reached in Yakima by phone yesterday afternoon, Manager Krug stated that Vanni had been sent back to his Seattle home and that he had forwarded a report of Thursday's events to Bob Abel, W.I.L. president, and Johnnie Johnson, president of the Victoria club. Vanni showed up at the bus depot yesterday morning as the team was leaving Salem but was told by Krug that he was not accompanying the team and that his suspension would stick. After some discussion, Vanni was permitted to stay on the bus as far as Portland, where he was given transportation to Seattle.

Krug also gave a clearer picture of the events which led up to Vanni's suspension. Vanni was called out on what Krug termed three perfect strikes and immediately started an argument with Umpire Micky Hanick. He was supported by Marshall and both players refused to leave the field when ordered to do so by Hanick.

THREATENED TO QUIT

In the clubhouse between games, Vanni, who had been repeatedly warned by his manager about umpire arguments, did not take kindly to Krug's reaction. The outfielder peeled off his uniform and threatened to quit the club. Krug countered by slapping him with a $100 fine and suspension and asked for any other players who questioned his authority to speak up. Marshall said he "wanted to protect his players" and would quit if Vanni did. He was given until yesterday to reconsider.

Next game Monday: Salmonbellies vs. Adanacs, Forum.

A return to seven-man lacrosse, with the rover position again being used, comes into effect on Monday for the Intercity Lacrosse League. A commission meeting in Vancouver last night ordered the change.

No official reason was given, but it was understood the move was partly due to plans for defending the Mann Cup, won last year by Vancouver Burrards. Orthodox seven-man teams are used by Eastern clubs.

It was also understood that an unofficial poll of spectators showed a preference for the old style of play over the faster six-man game. This was said to be particularly true in New Westminster where attendance has been dropping off lately.

Manager Ralph Baker stated last night that he didn't think the return to seven-man boxla would hurt the local club, adding that it might even be an advantage. Baker believes that it might take a few games for the Victorians to become accustomed to the rover style of play on smaller Mainland surfaces, but the change should have little effect at Memorial Arena.

While the meeting was arriving at its decision, the hapless Richmond-Kerrisdale entry was dropping its fifth straight contest—a 22-7 thumping by Northshore Indians—at Vancouver Forum.

The Kerries have two victories, the same number as Richmond Farmers collected all last year.

Richmond kept the game lively in the first quarter, leading 3-2 at its end, but were trailing 8-6 at the half. Sparked by Mel Jones and Johnny McKay with four goals each, the Tribe took a 17-7 third-quarter lead and then scored five more in the final period while Goalie Stan Joseph held the cellar-dwellers scoreless.

NEW YORK, June 9 (CP).—The St. Louis Browns turned on their tormentors today to wallop Boston Red Sox 12-7 as the heavy-hitting Sox quieted down from their hitting orgy of the last two days. They only equaled one record and broke another today. Bob Doerr's seventh homer of the season was Boston's 15th in three games—equalling a New York Yankee mark—while the seven runs they scored gave them a three-game total of 56, exceeding the old mark by four.

Elsewhere, Brooklyn hammered out four runs to defeat Pittsburgh Pirates 9-7, Jackie Robinson, Duke Snider, Roy Campanella and Peewee Reese doing the damage. Campanella's circuit clout with one aboard broke a 6-6 tie.

TIGERS WIN

Detroit Tigers exploded two big innings against New York Yankees to win 13-7, moving them 1½ games away from the losers, but Yankee hurler Bob Portfield was hit on the jaw by a pitched ball from Paul Calvert and suffered a fracture. He was unconscious 45 minutes. Gerry Priddy's three-run triple in the second sparked a four-run second inning while Johnny Lipon's triple in the fifth helped account for eight runs.

The highflying New York Giants extended their unbeaten string to seven today by whipping Chicago Cubs 9-3.

Cleveland staved off a Washington rally to manage an 8-7 victory, Bobby Feller's fifth of the season.

STAY IN TIE

St. Louis Cardinals outlasted Boston Braves 8-5 to remain in a first-place tie with the Dodgers. The Braves socked Max Lanier for four home runs but all of the blows arrived with the bases empty.

Walker Cooper homered twice and Sam Jethroe and Earl Torgeson once for Boston while Enos Slaughter homered with one on for the Cards.

Stan Musial broke out of his batting slump by driving in two runs and scoring two on two doubles and a triple.

ATHLETICS EDGED

Chicago White Sox edged Philadelphia Athletics 3-2 in the only American League night game. The Sox won the game in the eighth inning on Al Carrasquel's triple when Wally Moses failed to make a shoestring catch of his fly ball. Carrasquel scored when Billy Hitchcock muffed Moses' relay to the infield.

Duncan Squad Meets Eagles In Crucial Tilt

First place in the Lower Island Amateur Baseball League will be at stake tonight when Duncan Athletics invade Royal Athletic Park for an arc-light contest with Victoria Eagles at 8 o'clock. A victory for the Up-Islanders would give them the lead.

The contest may well develop into a pitchers' battle.

Doug English, who proved effective against the Eagles in last Sunday's contest when he pitched Duncan to a 4-2 victory, will probably be Manager George Byrotuk's choice for mound duty. English struck out 15 Eagles during the game.

Mike Leachman expects to give the task of stopping the Athletics to Southpaw Don McKinnon, who led all pitchers in the local amateur league last season. Bill Prior and Cliff Hume will be in readiness should McKinnon falter. Ron Woollcock will do the receiving.

Thompson Still Near Top; Marshall High

Although Victoria occupies the cellar position in Western International Baseball League standings three of the Athletics' performers are near the top in official statistics which include games of June 7.

Gene Thompson holds down fourth place in the batting race with a .364 average while K. Chorlton, at .333, is sixth.

Nino Tornay of Yakima is setting the pace at .376.

Thompson, with seven circuit blows, is second to Joe Rossi of Spokane, who leads the home-run department with ten. Chorlton has batted 41 runners across home plate to deadlock Glen Stetter of Tacoma for the runner-up spot in runs batted in behind the Tigers' Wimpy Quinn.

John Marshall, with a 6-1 pitching record trails only Tacoma's Bob Kerrigan who has recorded ten victories without a loss.

Golf—Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Beginning golfers and many case-hardened old bunker-jumpers, too, find it next to impossible to slow down the backswing. But you must get that backswing to slow and rhythmic order if your golf is to improve. Various ways of "counting" the backswing 1-2-3-4 have been devised, but most players find that disturbing and ineffective in play. One reason it fails to work in actual play is because counting takes your mind off the ball and puts it on your club. However during practice you can develope a slow and rhythmic backswing by counting four. Some such device as this will serve to give you the feel of action. After you have acquired this new habit your game will improve.

Allan Cup No Longer Prize

Top Amateur Pucksters To Play for New Trophy

BANFF, Alta., June 9 (CP).—Doug Grimston of New Westminster, B.C., today was elected president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for the 1950-51 season during the closing day of the 37th annual convention here.

Grimston succeeds Al Pickard of Regina who has headed Canada's Simon-pure ruling body for the past three years. Pickard had announced at the start of the meeting that he would not seek re-election.

George Dudley of Midland, Ont., was re-elected secretary-manager, and W. A. Hewitt of Toronto was returned as registrar-treasurer. W. B. George, Kempville, Ont., was named first vice-president, and James Dunn of Winnipeg, second vice-president.

In his address after taking over as chairman, Grimston—50-year-old businessman and first vice-president of the association for two years—said he believed the C.A.H.A. was the finest sporting body of its kind in the world and praised the capable manner in which the retiring president had conducted the association.

Before the delegates got through, they dropped a bombshell in the middle of the Dominion's senior hockey picture.

They decided that the Allan Cup will no longer be the top prize in senior hockey for teams classed as amateur. They also ruled that in future, senior players would be signed to contracts similar to those used by professional clubs.

Five senior leagues will be set apart from other loops. The remaining teams, such as Kamloops Elks, Fort Frances Canadians and clubs generally weaker than those of the five major leagues, will continue to play for the Allan Cup, which since its inception has been regarded as the top prize in Canadian senior hockey.

The new system of leagues will see the Western Canada, Ontario, Quebec, Maritimes and Cape Breton senior circuits play off in a "super series" for a trophy yet to be named.

Definite details of this new setup and the contract system will be formulated at a special meeting to be held sometime in July.

The new rule concerning players and coaches slapping the boards, made at yesterday's session, was changed today. Originally, a coach or trainer guilty of the infraction was to be ordered from the bench for the balance of the game. Today's amendment provided that a misconduct penalty will be imposed on a player when his coach or trainer slaps the boards.

The association decided to allow junior teams in British Columbia and the Maritimes to recruit four imports apiece next season. All other branches will be allowed two.

The C.A.H.A. accepted an invitation to hold its annual convention in Halifax next year.

Seek to Place Coast Soccer On Pro Basis

VANCOUVER, June 9 (CP).—Vancouver may become part of a proposed Pacific Coast professional soccer league.

John Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Soccer Commission, said that soccer in British Columbia — currently operating under an amateur label—may soon switch to pro status.

He envisioned a five-club setup including such cities as Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver.

NOTHING DEFINITE

He added: "We have nothing definite to go on yet. But we have reason to believe there are factions definitely interested in such a setup in the cities named."

Richardson said mounting interest in soccer in the Coast American states was mirrored by the fact that nearly 15,000 persons turned out to see Manchester United play a Mexican team at Los Angeles.

Soccer leagues now operate in the Eastern states.

Remember When..

Tommy Burns, Ontario-born heavyweight boxing great, became a citizen of the United States at Fresno, Calif., three years ago today. Born Noah Brusso at Hanover, Ont., 69 years ago, Burns in a 20-year boxing career became world heavyweight champion in 1906 by defeating Marvin Hart in a 20-round bout at Los Angeles. He held the title until December 26, 1908, when he was defeated by Jack Johnson in 14 rounds at Sydney, Australia.

England Finishes 205 Runs in Front On Second Day of First Cricket Test

MANCHESTER, England, June 9 (Reuters).—England finished 205 runs ahead of the West Indies with six wickets in hand on the second day of the first cricket test.

After dismissing the West Indies for 215 to gain a first-innings lead of 97 runs, England scored 108 for four wickets in their second innings.

England's most successful bowler was Lancashire's Bob Berry, a left-arm spin bowler who took five wickets for 63 runs.

Berry, playing on his home pitch and appearing for the first time in test cricket, took three of the wickets during morning play. The luncheon-interval score for the touring team was 102 for four wickets.

The five-day match is scheduled to continue tomorrow.

Modern stucco bungalow at View Royal built by a well-known contractor for the present owner about ten years ago when the last of the best materials were available. There is every modern feature, such as tile sink, through hall, oak floors, coved ceilings, Pembroke bath and end-wall fireplace, also full basement with hot-air piped furnace. The residence is set well back from the road on a strip which is studded with fir trees, fish pools and natural rockeries. A lot of money and labor has been expended to beautifying the grounds. Possession may be had almost immediately. There are 2 bedrooms, a large living-room, large kitchen, big nook, utility room and 4-piece bath. Some very fortunate person is going to obtain a valuable home a good deal under its cost, a lovely garden on someone else's labor, and besides there is a separate site to subdivide without impairing the desirability of the property which should be worth to some one $1,000, making this a real steal.

WOULD YOU ? ? ? ?

WOULD YOU LIKE TO LIVE ON THE waterfront with a view of a lighthouse and shake hands with the Olympic Mountains? Would you like ¾ of an acre gently sloping south to the big wharf where you could tie up your cruiser? Would you like sitting in the sun picking strawberries, raspberries and loganberries or reaching up for your choice of peaches or apricots? Would you like to dream under a spreading willow and look at the roses? Would you like a charming bungalow with 2 bedrooms (one so small you have to go outside to change your mind)? Would you like an extra cottage on the property all equipped with a shower, etc., to push your mother-in-law? Would you like to be just 8 minutes from town and have the sun streaming in all day long? Then phone E 3111. If you have to have the lying around house, and the owner will save some more. We gotta get a bigger place 'cause our kids are getting bigger, so would consider a trade, too. E 3111 starts things. This is the owner talking. Good morning. P.S. If you like clams, this is it.

Central Africa Needing Men

More interest should be taken by Canadians in the colonial service of Central Africa, according to Sir Donald Mackenzie-Kennedy, K.C.M.G., former Governor of Mauritius.

There are 7,000 posts filled by Commonwealth Colonial Service officers but, last year, 1,000 vacancies still remained to be filled. Needed are doctors, lawyers, engineers and many other technical officers.

During the period from 1924 to 1939, only about 25 Canadians held jobs in the Colonial Service. The service has jurisdiction in territory north of the Zambesi district.

Board Refuses House Permit

VIEW ROYAL, June 9.—Application of G. H. Todd, 293 Stewart Avenue, for a permit to erect a house on a part of a lot on Helmcken Avenue was disallowed by the View Royal Board of Appeal.

Topographical condition of the property would prevent Mr. Todd from being able to comply with certain necessary regulations, the board felt.

Arrange Talk At Courtenay

COURTENAY, June 8.—Premier Byron Johnson will be invited to a banquet by the Courtenay City Council, prior to the public address he is scheduled to give in the Native Son's Hall on June 29.

Mayor Alex Maxwell, of Cumberland; Commissioner Jack Noel, Comox, and Commissioner J. W. Baikie, Campbell River, will also attend.

City Veteran Wins Degree

Douglas H. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Campbell, 3552 Calumet Avenue, has received his degree as a bachelor of applied science at University of Toronto.

He graduated from Victoria High School in depression days, then worked for his uncle, M. D. Campbell, an architect, in Regina, spent three years with the Massey-Harris Corporation, and three years with General Motors at St. Catharines, Ont., as a draftsman. He served in the Royal Canadian Navy during the war.

Ten years passed between the time he left high school and the time he returned to university.

His father has been a teacher in British Columbia for 56 years.

Take My Word For It

By Frank Colby

A chiropodist is a specialist in treating ailments of the feet. Do not say "shuh-ROP-uh-dist." The first syllable is "ky" to rhyme with "by, my." Better say: ky-ROP-uh-dist.

The word is from the Greek chiro, "hand," plus podos, "foot." Since chiropodist literally means "hand-foot specialist," many practitioners now prefer the more accurate term podiatrist, pronounced poe-DY-uh-trist.

Poem is not a one-syllable word, as "pome." Poem, like poet, comes from the Greek poiein, meaning "to make," and, also like poet, should have two distinct syllables, thus: POE-em.

Incognito, "with the identity concealed," should not be accented on the third syllable, as "in-kog-NEE-tuh" or "in-kog-NY-tuh." The only accent falls on the "cog," and the "i" of "-ni-" is short as in "nip." Say: in-KOG-ni-toe.

"The PO-lice raided a HO-tal in DE-troit." There are a number of such words that are wrongly accented on the first syllable, among them are: cement (noun and verb), decoy, defense, permit (verb). These and similar words should be accented on the second syllable, thus:

poe-LEES see-MENT
hoe-TELL dee-KOY
dee-TROYT dee-FENSS
per-MIT

Q: In my speech class the question has come up as to where the accent falls in the word "advertisement." Will you discuss it for us, please?—Mrs. D. H. M.

Answer: A check of some 15 dictionaries, both American and British, shows that the first-choice pronunciation listed is: ad-VER-tiss-ment.

However, a few of the American dictionaries list AD-ver-TIZE-ment as first choice, and all the others list it as second choice.

The word derives from the verb advert (ad-VERT), "to turn the mind to."

I am inclined to agree with Merriam Webster's that the customary American pronunciation is: AD-ver-TIZE-ment.

Firm Asks Continuance Of 'Doubling Up' Fares

Permission to continue the existing practice of "doubling up" taxi fares was requested in a letter received yesterday by Mayor George from nine members of the United Taxi Co., C.P.R. docks.

The letter protested a proposed amendment to the taxi regulation by-law which would outlaw "doubling up." Question raised by the letter will be considered by the public works committee.

As early as 1635, smallpox, introduced by the white man, had become epidemic among Canadian Indians in the East.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! By Fagaly and Shorten

Protests Change In Traffic Ruling

Proposed amendment to the city's streets traffic by-law which will prevent persons crossing the street in front of a bus stopped at a curb to discharge passengers was protested yesterday by Linn A. Gale, Box 115, Victoria.

"If this means when a bus is stopped at the curb after crossing the intersection, it would seem to be a fair and sensible by-law, but if it means before the bus has crossed the intersection it would appear to me to be just another one of those by-laws that are passed by the council in order to place responsibilities on the public which should rightly be responsibilities of the council," it was stated in a letter to council.

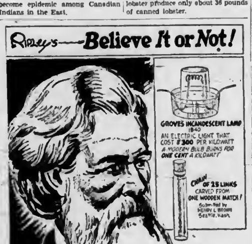

Branch to Attend

PARKSVILLE, June 8.—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Edith Elvira Barnum, 69, will be conducted in St. Anne's Anglican Church at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, with members of Mount Arrowsmith Branch of the Canadian Legion in attendance. Interment will follow at Qualicum Beach Cemetery. Rev. G. Arthur Bagshaw will officiate.

Mrs. Barnum was born at Lucknow, Ont., and had resided in British Columbia 43 years. She moved to Parksville ten years ago. She was active in Red Cross work during the World War, and was a member of the Women's Auxiliary to Mount Arrowsmith Branch of the Canadian Legion. She is survived by two sons, three sisters and one brother.

June 25 Named Canadian Day

Sunday, June 25, has been set as the day for observance of "I Am a Canadian Day" by the Greater Victorian Citizenship Council.

The council has arranged for special exercises to be carried out in Greater Victoria schools during the week prior to June 25.

Commemorative services in co-operation with local ministers have been arranged. A special ceremony will be held Sunday afternoon in Beacon Hill Park.

Willard Ireland, Provincial archivist, will address the park ceremony on the subject "On Being a Canadian." The Victoria Park Band will be in attendance.

Speaking Briefly

The fastest mile and half-mile of the season were turned in at the Southern Pacific A.A.U. track championships at Los Angeles yesterday. Jim Newcomb of Southern California ran the mile in 4:07.7, and Jack Barnes of Occidental College did the 880 in 1:51.1.

Backache

By DR. J. B. WARREN

Most pains in lower back are due to infection—teeth, tonsils, gums, sinuses, gall bladder. The next most common cause of backache is injury caused by a fall, a sudden twist, a misstep or other condition which causes pressure on the nerves coming out from the spinal column which supply the muscles of lower back and hip.

Most cases of backache due to injury are helped by a proper fitted brace. Backache cases due to injury have no pain when at rest. Backache due to infection is worse when at rest.

Tillicums	3	3	60	60	6
Foul Bay	3	3	60	36	6
Navy	0	6	12	104	0

Navy has yet to win a game in the city senior B lacrosse loop, but the Sailors served notice at Memorial Arena last night that they can no longer be rated as pushovers for the other three clubs in the league.

Held to six goals in their first five contests the battling Bluejackets scored that many last night as they went down, 12-6, before the undefeated Jokers. Strengthened by the return of five of their more experienced performers, the cellarites gave the Jokers a spirited tussle before dropping back in the latter part of the game.

FOUL BAY WINS

In the opening encounter on the twin-bill, Foul Bay moved into a second-place tie with Tillicums on the strength of a hard-fought, 5-5, overtime victory over the Clubmen.

Behind, 3-2, at the half, the Bays deadlocked the score at 4-4 in the third period and each club tallied once in the fourth quarter. Al Hudson stepped into the hero's role for the winners when he pumped in the only goal of the extra session.

Line-ups follow:

Tillicums—Aitken, Henderson 1, Pickford, Stinson 1, Moffatt, Reid 1, Cummings 1, Ritchie 1, Denent, Burke, Leonard, Kerr, Husband.

Foul Bay—A. Thompson, Deere, Halbert 1, Walker 1, J. Thompson 1, Jones, Hudson 1, Winter, Scoll 1, Davison, O'Connell, Makowski, Chuhaytrick, Thomas.

Navy—Saint, McDowell 1, Bolt, Tupp 1, Lott 3, Daugherty, Janes, Marnem 1, Burns 1, Josephson, Haynes, Nelson, Langton, Buchanan, Lee, Jones.

Jokers—Hethrington, Brown 1, Stewart, Douglas 4, Cellow, Travis, Uttke 3, Hall, Rhodes 1, Harding 1, Gradley, Bryant 2, Moncheruk, Joyce, Beens.

MEDAL COMPETITION

Mrs. S. Horsford and Mrs. B. H. Anderson tied for the silver division honors in the monthly medal competition at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday by carding identical net 77's. Mrs. R. Elliott and Mrs. R. Purves tied for the bronze division laurels by posting net 71's.

Next games, Monday: Esquimalt A.A. vs. Argosy Cafe, Bullen Park; Ramblers vs. Post Office, Heywood Avenue.

Post Office posted its fifth successive victory in the Senior "C" Men's Softball League and stretched its lead to a game and a half by defeating Naval Reserve, 14-7, at Heywood Avenue last night.

George Sommers paced the attack with two home runs.

The league produced a wild slugfest at Victoria West, Thursday night, where the score reached basketball proportions. Argosy Cafe was the winner, defeating Standard Furniture, 29-22.

Potts Wins Trophy

John R. Potts captured the Maynard Trophy for the low gross score during the Pacific Club's annual golf tournament at the Gorge Vale Golf Club yesterday.

Malcolm G. Gillespie won the Kirkham Trophy for the low new score.

Seattle Bowlers Here

A number of visitors from the Seattle Woodland Park Lawn Bowling Club were guests of the Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club at a social and bowling evening recently. An informal dance concluded the evening.

The visitors have invited the local members to visit their club July 1.

Tomorrow, the Victoria West bowlers will make their annual visit to the Nanaimo City Bowling Club.

Next game, tomorrow: Moose vs. McPhersons, Bullen Park.

Norm Jones singled in the top of the ninth to drive in Allan with the winning run as Navy posted its ninth straight victory in the Senior "B" Men's Softball League at Bullen Park last night.

The Sailors were aided by errors by their opponents, picking up unearned runs in the first and sixth innings and adding two tainted markers in the seventh.

AND WHEREAS it will be necessary to provide during the currency of the debentures authorized by this by-law for payment of the debt and payment of interest in the respective years the amounts as set out in Section 7 hereof.

AND WHEREAS the "Victoria City Debt Refunding Act, 1946" provides that the City of Victoria shall not issue or sell any other debentures or bonds during the life of the refunding debentures, except with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council given upon the recommendation of the Minister.

NOW THEREFORE the Municipal Council of The Corporation of the City of Victoria enacts as follows:

1. There shall be placed to the credit of The Corporation of the City of Victoria the sum of FOUR HUNDRED AND ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIVE DOLLARS AND NINETY-TWO CENTS ($401,705.92) for payment over to the Board of School Trustees of School District No. 61 (Greater Victoria) as the said Municipality's share of extraordinary expenses of said Board plus the sum of EIGHT THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-FOUR DOLLARS AND EIGHT CENTS ($8,294.08) for by-law and debenture expense, making a total of FOUR HUNDRED AND TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($410,000.00).

2. For the purpose and with the object aforesaid, there shall be borrowed upon the credit of The Corporation of the City of Victoria the sum of FOUR HUNDRED AND TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($410,000.00), and debentures shall be issued therefor in denominations of not less than ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00) each, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor and Treasurer thereof.

3. The debentures shall be dated the first day of December, 1950, and shall be issued in serial form, and shall be payable as to principal annually on the first day of December in each of the years from 1951 to 1970 both inclusive, in the respective amounts shown for payment of principal in Clause 7 hereof. The debentures falling due in each of the first five (5) years shall bear interest at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum; and the debentures falling due in each of the following ten (10) years shall bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum (3½%) per annum; and the debentures falling due in the remaining five (5) years shall bear interest at the rate of three and three-quarters per centum (3¾%) per annum.

4. The said debentures as to both principal and interest, shall be expressed in lawful money of Canada, and shall be made payable in such money at the principal office of the Bank of Montreal in any of the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Victoria or Halifax in the Dominion of Canada, at the option of the holder thereof.

5. The said debentures shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest at the rates aforesaid, payable half-yearly on the first day of June and the first day of December in each year during the currency thereof and shall be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer of the said Corporation. The signatures on the coupons may be written, stamped, printed, lithographed or engraved.

6. Provision shall be made in the debentures for registration thereof as to principal only at the option of the holder.

7. There shall be levied and raised during each year of the currency of the said debentures by rates sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates on all the rateable land or land and improvements within the Municipality, amounts sufficient to meet the interest on all outstanding debentures hereunder and the principal of all such debentures that fall due in that year, and accordingly during the period of twenty (20) years, the currency of said debentures, the respective sums of principal and respective sums of interest as follows:

YEAR	RATE	PRINCIPAL	INTEREST	TOTAL
1951	3 %	$ 15,000.00	$ 14,780.00	$ 29,780.00

which said sums shall be levied and raised at the same time and in the same manner as other rates.

8. This By-law shall come into force and be binding upon The Corporation of the City of Victoria only in the event of by-laws for raising the whole of the said sum of SIX HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($677,000.00) for the said School District Number 61 (Greater Victoria), submitted to the electors in the respective municipalities, portion of municipality, and the qualified voters of the rural area comprised in the said District, receiving votes in favour thereof not less than three-fifths (3/5) of the aggregate votes polled in the said municipalities, portion of municipality and rural area.

9. This by-law may be cited as "THE GREATER VICTORIA SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 61 LOAN BY-LAW, 1950."

Passed by the Municipal Council the 5th day of June, A.D. 1950.

TAKE NOTICE that the above is a true copy of the proposed By-law upon which the vote of the Municipality will be taken at the building known as the Victoria Public Market Building, Cormorant Street, in the City of Victoria, on THURSDAY, the TWENTY-SECOND day of JUNE, 1950; that the Polls will be kept open between the hours of NINE o'clock A.M. and SEVEN o'clock P.M., and that the undersigned has been appointed Returning Officer of the said vote.

City Hall, Victoria, B.C., June 10, 1950.

City Clerk.

Washington Flying Farmers Greeted And Feted on Arrival in 14 Aircraft

Fourteen plane loads of Washington State Flying Farmers hit town yesterday to be greeted by Victoria Flying Club members, civic officials and service club members.

They landed at Patricia Bay airport early last night, were whisked into town by a Saanich police escort, Constable Robert Colman, checked in at the Empress Hotel and took off for a reception and banquet at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

FIFTY IN GROUP

The Flying Farmers' Association of Washington has about 200 members and an additional 75 associate members in the group. Above 50 came here on the first large flight of airborne tourists.

President Chester Hensen, of Prosser, Wash., described the group as using planes as anyone else would use a car.

"We use them on our farms to check cattle and, if need be, pick up machinery and other equipment from the nearest town," he said.

PRIVATE FLYERS

The average age of the group that arrived here is about 45. Few of them are force veterans. They have picked up their flight knowledge privately.

Flight leader of the Wenatchee to Victoria hop is Kenneth Patton, of Wenatchee, Wash., who has flown for the past 25 years.

The group took off from the rendezvous base (Wenatchee) early Friday morning, headed for the Canadian side of the border and would up at Chilliwack for their first stop. They were guests of the Chilliwack Junior Chamber of Commerce at luncheon.

CONVOYED ACROSS

From there they took off for Vancouver Island and were met and convoyed across the strait by Aubrey Westinghouse to land at Patricia Bay airport.

They were greeted there by Ald. Duncan McTavish, on behalf of Mayor Percy George, Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich, and Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt.

Host of the Washington group is the Victoria Flying Club. They were on hand at the airport to welcome them and are arranging tours of the Victoria area today. The Flying Farmers will take off late this afternoon to attend functions at the Aero Marine Club in Seattle.

Picnic Planned For Scouters At Dean Park

Arrangements were made for a picnic for the Scouters and their friends at John Dean Park, June 18, at a meeting of the Victoria District Scouters' Council Friday at the Scout Headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street.

Plans were also made for a party to be held for Mrs. Ruth Brown, Akela of the St. John's Cub Pack, who will soon be leaving for Scotland.

CERTIFICATES PRESENTED

Major H. B. Hunter, D.S.O., Honorary District Commissioner, presented a number of certificates for training at the meeting.

Dr. Clifford Carl, curator at the Provincial Museum, gave an address at the meeting on the fur seal herds of the Pribilof Islands.

He screened interesting movies showing how the herd had increased during the past few years until now they number millions. He explained how they are controlled by international agreement, particularly between United States and Canada.

The film also showed bird life on the islands which are the largest sea bird nesting grounds in the north, and also how the natives of the islands are taking after their southern neighbors.

The Fairfield Rover Crew, under the leadership of Richard Warner, is leaving for Port Alberni this morning to take part in the Scout rally being held there.

No Site Bought For School Asserts Thorp

No site has been purchased for the proposed new Junior-Senior High School, School District No. 63, Chairman Percy E. Thorp assured ratepayers in a statement yesterday.

The chairman was replying to a resolution submitted by the Saanich sub-council of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

The resolution asked that no site be chosen until a public meeting is called representing the three areas concerned. It was requested that the meeting be widely publicized at least two weeks in advance.

TO CALL MEETING

Mr. Thorp stated a meeting will be called so that persons living at Cordova Bay, Royal Oak and Prospect Lake may attend and discuss the matter before the school board makes a decision.

"The board feels that minimum transportation will be the basis of the final decision," said Mr. Thorp.

Harold Johns Awarded Ph.D. With Honors

Harold P. Johns, 850 Richmond Avenue, has been awarded his Ph.D. degree, with honors, by the Institute of Psychology, University of Ottawa.

Dr. Johns is director of educational and vocational guidance for the Department of Education and director of the Summer School in Victoria.

He wrote his thesis on "Curriculum Planning and Guidance Services in British Columbia."

AT SCHOOL HERE

A native son of Victoria, Dr. Johns attended Victoria High School and Victoria College. He graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1929. Following graduation, he did post-graduate work at the University of Washington.

After teaching in high schools in Prince Rupert and Victoria, Dr. Johns accepted his present position with the province.

For the past two years he has been studying for his doctor's degree at the Institute of Psychology which is a graduate school for personnel and guidance workers.

Eighteen Seek Citizenship

A Polish couple and 16 Chinese applied for Canadian citizenship before Judge H. H. Shandley in county court Thursday. They must wait for a month before they know whether their applications have been approved.

Prospective new citizens are William Ruttich and Katherine Ruttich, Lim Poo Hing (Jang Ling), Chow Wing Noon, Chu Sina Fon, Chow Kwong Wo, Leung Lam Yun (Leong Lam Yuen), Low Yun, Tong Dang Yip (Tong Woy), Wai Jack Hin (Wai Man Foo), Lee Jong Yen (Lee Chang Quay), Chu Yew Ting, Lee Yut Duk, Chu Ting Hip, Jung Hoo (Charlie How, Jung Chan), Wong Sack Quon (Wong Yee Chong), Jang Sack Woot, Ma Sum Jock.

Help Sought For Band Trip

If a few citizens open their pocketbooks, Victoria Boys' Band may be able to travel to Seattle for July 4 celebrations.

The trip will cost some $250 and the band has no source of revenue, says George McDougall, band secretary. Parents of the 30 players will meet Monday and may raise some of the money.

Victoria Boys' Band, led by C. H. Rowles, has been training the city's young musicians for many years. A number of leading instrumentalists and members of adult bands are "graduates."

Henry Baker Receives Gift On Retirement

Henry Baker retired yesterday from the civic staff where he served for 40 years as a meter reader in the waterworks department.

He told fellow employees who gathered in the mayor's office to mark the retirement that he could remember well the "old days" when city metre readers traveled by horse and buggy to read meters in Saanich.

Then City Council, ruled by the spirit of economy, cut out the horse and buggy and the meter readers were forced to walk to points as far out of town as Royal Oak.

"They call them the good old days," observed Mr. Baker, "but they don't look so good now."

Mayor Percy George and Alderman Charles Banfield each paid tribute to the record of the faithful employee.

Mr. Baker was presented with a clock by civic employees.

Born in England in 1885, Mr. Baker joined the City Hall staff in 1910. During the Great War he served overseas from 1916 to 1919.

Tuesday Meeting For Credit Group

The regular monthly meeting of the Retail Credit Granter's Association will be held at Lougheed's Banquet Hall, Douglas Street, Tuesday, June 13, at 12 noon.

Special speaker will be Harold M. Bell, past president of the Vancouver Credit Granter's Association.

Warm Tributes Paid To George S. Pearson

Special to The Daily Colonist

NANAIMO, June 9—There was but one man in Nanaimo Friday night. He was George S. Pearson, M.L.A., former Minister of Labor, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Health and Welfare.

Humbly, he stood before more than 700 of his fellow townsmen and visitors from other constituencies, his former Cabinet colleagues and Premier Byron Johnson and listened to the accolades of the people of every strain of political thought.

22 YEARS' SERVICE

The Pygmy Pavilion was filled by the gathering, who paid tribute to Mr. Pearson's 22 years as Nanaimo representative, 17 of which were as Cabinet minister.

From the Premier he received a warm tribute as the man who had done most for the people who were unable to take care of themselves, the creator of the hospital plan; protector of children; instigator of the most advanced labor legislation.

Hon. W. T. Straith, Minister of Education, called him "the dean of statesmen" in British Columbia, a great humanitarian. Hon. A. D. Turnbull, his successor in health and welfare, paid him the tribute of his years of service from the youngest Cabinet minister, and Hon. J. L. Cates, Minister of Labor, hoped that at the end of his services he had done as much as Mr. Pearson.

HOPE FOR RECOVERY

The retiring minister, who also received the praise of Nanaimo citizens, expressed by Pete Maffeo for his work in hospital and sports field, said that he hoped with rest he could recuperate his failing health and still render service from the floor of the House.

Mr. Pearson was presented with gifts by the Premier on behalf of Liberals in British Columbia and by Mr. Maffeo on behalf of Nanaimo and The Islands Liberals.

Messages of tribute were received from former Premier John L. Hart, T. D. Pattullo, Mayor Percy George of Victoria, Hon. Gordon Wismer, Harry Hodges and Mrs. Nancy Hodges and others.

From the floor, representatives of other constituencies expressed their homage to the long and faithful service of George S. Pearson.

Elmer Bradshaw was chairman of the large gathering, which was sponsored by the Liberal Association of Nanaimo and the Island.

Motorists Pay $110 in Fines

Three motorists paid a total of $110 in fines in Oak Bay Police Court yesterday on dangerous and careless driving charges.

Albert Simpson, Qualicum Beach, who pleaded guilty to a dangerous driving charge, was fined $40 by Magistrate H. C. Hall. The charge was laid after an accident, June 1, at the intersection of Central Avenue and St. Patrick Street.

CHARGED AFTER MISHAP

Charged with careless driving, William Strand, 1434 Myrtle Street, pleaded guilty and was fined $35. He was charged after an accident May 31, on Beach Drive near Victoria Avenue.

Barbara Russell, 1038 Monterey Avenue, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge and was fined $35. Charge arose out of an accident on Monterey Avenue.

Two persons each paid $5 fines for failing to pay their hospital insurance premiums. They were David Beck, 1217 St. Patrick Street, and H. Hunt, 1715 Hampshire Road.

SET ANNUAL MEETING

Annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will be held at Sidney June 14 and 15, it was reported yesterday.

Fund Appeals Still Drawing Contributions

Fund appeals in Victoria are continuing to draw generous contributions from the public.

The Mayor's Fund for Manitoba flood victims was increased by $113.50 yesterday, while the total collected at The Colonist is now $4,837.75. Collected yesterday was $81.

$4,388 COLLECTED

[illegible] Saanich Municipal Clerk John Tribe reported that contributions to the Reid Fund are slightly more than $4,380. The fund was instituted following a disastrous fire that wiped out four members of the family early in May.

Results of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Society fund drive now stand at $9,900.

"We have still to hear from provincial and Federal Civil Service canvassers, the business section, women's division, and cheques are still coming in by mail," said Eric Wainwright, campaign manager, yesterday.

Ack-Ack Units Go to Camp In July, August

Fifteen reserve anti-aircraft units will attend Summer camp at Albert Head during July and August.

Delane Given Two Years For Theft at Golf Club

Dennis Delane was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court yesterday, for breaking and entering Gorge Vale Golf Club and committing theft May 14.

Judge Shandley dismissed a charge against Carl Christian Kibsgaard of breaking and entering and committing theft February 5.

FACES ANOTHER CHARGE

Kibsgaard faces another charge of breaking and entering Stan-Fort Variety Grocery, 1424 Fort Street, May 31.

The earlier charge against Kibsgaard was dismissed for lack of corroboration of the evidence of a juvenile who said he had been Kibsgaard's accomplice in entering McKenzie, White and Dunsmuir's office, smashing open a safe and removing $197.

Kibsgaard, who conducted his own defence, did not take the witness stand.

TWO ACCOMPLICES

Only witnesses against Delane in the Gorge Vale Golf Club case were two teen-agers who said they had been accomplices. Mordaunt G. Dundas, 18, and a 17-year-old youth said they had helped Delane break into the club where money from slot machines and some goods were taken.

Delane, in a written statement to Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancomb, said he had been near the club earlier that night, but had quarreled with the others and gone home.

Dundas pleaded guilty in a lower court and was given a year's suspended sentence.

ASKED FOR DISMISSAL

David Sloan, defence counsel, moved for dismissal of the charge on grounds that Crown Counsel James J. Proudfoot had produced no corroborative evidence other than that of accomplices.

He said it was the general practice to require outside corroboration. "It is better that a guilty man go free than that an innocent man be convicted," he said.

Said Judge Shandley: "While I know it is dangerous to convict on uncorroborated evidence of accomplices, I am going to do so in this case. The other two witnesses had given their evidence independently," he noted.

Team Sought By Vancouver

The Victoria Chinese Girls' Drill Team yesterday was extended an invitation to take part in the parade which will precede the opening of the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver on August 23.

"We can assure them of a hearty welcome," stated D. A. Grout, supervisor of parades, in a letter to Mayor George.

Mr. Grout said many Vancouver citizens had expressed a desire to see the Victoria Chinese Girls' Drill Team.

Victoria City was also invited to participate in the parade.

Block of Coppers Helps Job at Courtenay Pool

COURTENAY, June 9.—A block of pennies and carnival staged by the Courtenay Recreational Association swimming pool committee grossed $1,740, according to F. W. Tull, treasurer. He said expenses would amount to slightly more than $300, leaving a net of $1,400, more than sufficient to pay for dressing rooms now being constructed at the pool.

A 16-inch strip the length of Fifth Street between Duncan and Cliffe Avenues was filled with pennies about 12 hours after the drive started. Games in the middle of the street and modern and old-time dances at either end gave the street a carnival atmosphere seldom seen in this city.

Construction work on the pool dressing rooms is already under way, and the job is expected to be finished this month.

Club Prepares To Kill Crows

PARKSVILLE, June 9.—Parksville Fish and Game Association will stage a crow shoot under the leadership of Murray Shelly at 10 a.m. Sunday. It will be followed by a skeet shoot at Parksville Flats at 3 p.m.

Members discussed the possibility of having the newly-completed boat basin at French Creek enlarged to accommodate larger sport fishing boats. Mr. Shelly and Percy Rushton were delegated to accompany a Government engineer on a survey of the basin in the near future.

An endeavor will be made by J. Farmer to ascertain the number of fishermen using Cameron Lake during the season so as to judge the amount of re-stocking necessary there. It was felt by members that more extensive trout planting could be undertaken, and it was decided to ask the Game Department to investigate feeding conditions.

Alter Building At View Royal

VIEW ROYAL, June 9.—View Royal Anglican Church will resume its regular services in the Community Hall Sunday. Due to extensive alterations to the hall Rev. S. J. Wickens, vicar, held services at the home of Miss M. K. Todd. Sunday school was held at various homes.

Services will commence at 10 a.m., and Sunday school at 11.15 a.m. Mrs. H. S. Keiser, Mrs. C. A. Pope and Mrs. Alice Stephen will be in charge, with Frank Foulds as superintendent.

Announce Vote To Raise Cash

VIEW ROYAL, June 9.—H. S. Stevens has been appointed returning officer and Mrs. G. C. Stevenson deputy returning officer for View Royal on the occasion of voting on a school by-law to be held at View Royal Elementary School, Helmcken Road, on June 22.

The by-law is to raise $13,000 on behalf of the rural area of School District No. 61. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Hurt in Crash

DUNCAN, June 9.—Nicholas Wilby, a truck driver, suffered injuries in a head-on collision with another vehicle in charge of Frederick Dodsworth. Wilby was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital. Dodsworth escaped with bruises.

Name Officers

COLWOOD, June 9.—Members elected at the annual meeting of Colwood Hall Committee were E. H. Emery, F. Searl, R. Little, Mrs. T. Price and Mrs. G. Smith.

Elect Leaders

PARKSVILLE, June 9.—Parksville Kinsmen Club elected the following officers: Kenneth Dunsmore, president; John Robertson, vice-president; Harvey Adams, secretary; R. M. Young, treasurer; Michael Malone, registrar; W. W. Shelly, W. H. Hunt and Russell Bergstrom, directors. An installation ceremony will be held in September.

Dies Suddenly At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, June 9.—Thomas Holmes, 76, a resident of Parksville for 38 years, died suddenly at the home of his niece, Miss Margaret Holmes. He was born in Ireland and had lived in Canada since 1905. He was a member of the Mount Arrowsmith Branch of the Canadian Legion, a veteran of the South African War, Great War and other campaigns.

In addition to Miss Holmes, he is survived by another niece, Mrs. J. Walsh, Courtenay, and two nephews, William Holmes, Parksville, and Thomas Holmes in Saskatchewan. Funeral services will be held at St. Anne's Anglican Church, French Creek, at 2.30 p.m. Saturday, with full Legion honors.

Transfer Official

NANAIMO, June 9.—Dr. A. N. Beattie, medical director of Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, will be transferred to Saanich, effective after the Summer holidays. He will be succeeded by Dr. E. W. Best, Vernon.

Dr. Beattie and his family have won a wide circle of friends in the two years he has served at Nanaimo. He has been active in community affairs and was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club and an elder of St. Andrew's United Church.

Hornby Island To Get School

COURTENAY, June 9.—Tenders will be called for construction of a new one-room school at Hornby Island to cost in the neighborhood of $9,500.

Courtenay School Board has $4,800 in extra funds, accumulated through refusal of the Department of Education to permit boards to buy any more buses this year, and through reallocation of money originally designed to be spent on steel lockers at Courtenay High School. The sum will be matched by the Department of Education.

The present Hornby Island School, built in 1890, will be retained for use as a recreation and lunch room.

Weather Forecasts

East Coast of Vancouver Island—Few clouds. Little change in temperature. Light winds.

West Coast of Vancouver Island—Clearing. Sunny and warm in afternoon. Light winds.

Residents of View Royal To Celebrate in Autumn

VIEW ROYAL, June 9.—Directors of the View Royal Community Association are making plans for a celebration from September 14 to 16, to mark official opening of an addition to the Community Hall and completion of the new fire hall. No association general meetings will be held during the Summer.

Mrs. Duncan D. McTavish is chairman of the committee in charge of various events, Mrs. H. S. Keiser heads the hospitality committee, and Mrs. T. W. Simpson will handle publicity.

Arrangements have been made for a fire fighting demonstration by the B.C. Forest Service.

Directors will mail to members of the association a report on improved bus service and transfer privileges, granted following a request made to the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd.

Information on roads paved by the Provincial Department of Public Works, road improvement contemplated, and data on progress of the new fire hall will also be included in the report.

Nanaimo Indian Faces Charges

NANAIMO, June 9.—Indian treaty rights raised Leslie John's bail to $10,000 when he was committed for trial by a higher court on a charge of armed robbery.

The 21-year-old totem-pole carver is charged with the $106 robbery of a store here in May, 1949, when a gunman menaced storekeeper Douglas Ingham and his wife.

When John's counsel asked for bail for his client, Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts set the high bond, stating:

"Indians have treaty rights which would permit them to cross the border to the United States. He could disappear and never be seen again."

Preliminary hearing on another charge of armed robbery and two charges of robbery against John has been set for Tuesday.

Funeral Services

COURTENAY, June 9.—Funeral services for the late William Andrew Jordan, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jordan, were conducted in Sutton's Funeral Chapel by Rev. J. S. Clark. Interment followed at Sandwick United Cemetery. The child died last Sunday shortly after he had been christened at United Church. In addition to his parents he is survived by one brother and one sister.

Sons Organize Annual Event

COURTENAY, June 9.—Annual Dominion Day celebration to be staged by Courtenay Native Sons will include a parade, children's sports, swimming and diving competitions and a display by the Courtenay Volunteer Fire Brigade.

Courtenay Legion baseball team will meet an all-star nine in two games over the week-end. The team having the greater number of runs at conclusion of the series will win $75 and the loser $25.

Courtenay Reserve Army Band will play for the occasion. Carnival games are also planned. A dance in the evening will conclude the event.

Plan Festival

COLWOOD, June 9.—Arrangements for a strawberry festival and garden party in July at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Emery were made during a meeting of the Colwood Community Club. Motion pictures of the Interior and Prairie Provinces were shown.

Automobiles Collide

DUNCAN, June 9.—Arthur Rosenberg was fined $10 and costs in Duncan police court on a charge of operating an automobile without a driver's licence. The charge arose as a result of a collision between Rosenberg's car and a Provincial Police vehicle.

Seek Harbor Information

VIEW ROYAL, June 9.—View Royal residents living on the shores of Esquimalt Harbor are concerned about use of the water for anchoring log booms and old hulks. They addressed a letter to Rear Admiral H. G. DeWolf, C.B.E., D.S.O., D.S.C., Flag Officer commanding Pacific Coast, asking the following questions:

"Who is the authority responsible for these waters? What are the harbor regulations? What commercial enterprises have been allowed to operate in these waters, and under what restrictions and regulations?"

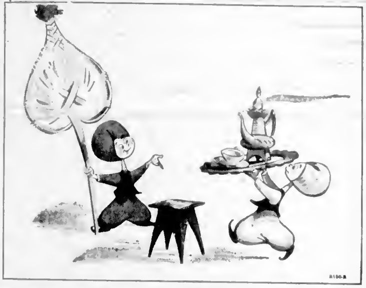

Pays $50 Court Fine

DUNCAN, June 9.—Wesley Burgess, 18, was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate O. A. Tisdall in Duncan police court on a charge of dangerous driving.

More Children

PORT ALBERNI, June 9.—Vital statistics showed 32 births, 11 deaths and seven marriages in Alberni Valley last month. There were 21 births, ten deaths and nine marriages in May, 1949.

New Port Hospital Cost Estimated at $933,947

PORT ALBERNI, June 9.—"A veritable bombshell," Mayor Ben Wright of Alberni declared when confronted with figures by the West Coast General Hospital board showing that a further sum of $164,649 would be required as the share of the city of Alberni and Port Alberni, before the proposed new hospital could be built.

The figure was given at a special meeting of both the Port Alberni and Alberni City Councils with the board of directors of the hospital, called to discuss ways and means of providing the money.

The additional amount will bring the cost of the new hospital to $933,947. The original estimate of cost was $600,000. A breakdown of the required figure shows $84,649 extra required for the building and $80,000 for equipment.

In addition to the City Councils and the hospital board, the meeting was attended by Donald Cox, deputy commissioner in charge of hospital administration for the Provincial Government, and A. W. E. Pilkethley, manager of hospital construction.

Mayors of both cities felt the councils would not look favorably upon the new demand but it was finally decided that the hospital board communicate with the councils in writing prior to the next meetings, stating that costs had overstepped the boundaries of the money in hand, and presenting estimates provided by the Provincial Government and the architects as to the new cost of the hospital. From there on the councils will deal with the matter.
